Osborne said the Huskers held a split practice Tuesday to allow more room for drills. The Husker offense practiced on the Memorial Stadium turf, while the defense worked out in Cook Pavilion.

you keep in perspective how good you are -- or how bad you are."

Nee said Nebraska needs to overcome Ohio State's talented lineup and quick offense in order to defeat the Buckeyes. He said the Buckeyes, who are ranked 14th in the latest Associated Press and United Press International polls with a 4-1 record, are a legitimate top-20 team that will be a force in this year's Big Ten Conference race.

Nee said Ohio State's inside game will keep the Buckeyes from becoming a top-10 team or from challenging for this year's conference title. Ohio State's starting center is Perry Carter, a 6-foot-8 sophomore.

Joining Carter in Ohio State's starting lineup are guards Jamaal Brown and Jay Burson and forwards Tony White and Jerry Francis. Burson, a 6-foot senior from New Concord, Ohio, is the Buckeyes leading scorer, averaging about 25 points per game.

Nee said Nebraska has to be aware of Burson. He said Burson, who tallied 38 points during Ohio State's 97-93 loss to Oklahoma in the Maui Classic earlier this season in Lahaina, Hawaii, benefits from the Buckeyes' up-tempo offense.

"He's tough with the ball. He attacks the basket," Nee said. "He's dynamite."

Nee said he does not have any special feelings entering the contest even though he spent six years in nearby Athens, Ohio as the coach of Ohio University. He said he did not develop any relations with Ohio State while he was at Ohio University.

But Nee said he expects Nebraska forward Beau Reid to be psyched up for the game. Reid, a 6-7 sophomore from Lancaster, Ohio, signed with Ohio following his senior season at Lancaster High School, but transferred to Nebraska when Nee was named Husker coach.

The Nebraska roster also includes Dapreis Owens, a 6-8 freshman forward from Mansfield, Ohio, and Lewis Geter, a Columbus native who was forced to sit out this season because he failed to meet the academic requirements set forth by Proposition 48.

In addition, Nebraska assistant coach Arden Reid coached at Lancaster High School for 16 years after graduating from Ohio State in 1970.

Nee said he has been pleased by Nebraska's 4-2 start. He said the Huskers are a much-improved team over last year's squad that finished 13-18 overall. Nebraska is improved even though its players do not have a lot of experience and maturity, he said.

"It's not that they aren't good enough," Nee said, "they just don't have the experience. As they do get experienced they'll just improve."

Sanders wins Maxwell Award

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Barry Sanders of Oklahoma State added the Maxwell Award to the Heisman Trophy he earned earlier, and used the opportunity Tuesday to knock down rumors that he would skip his senior year to play in the NFL.

"I'll be at Oklahoma State next year," said Sanders.

"There was a rumor floating around that I was going to the NFL. But I never really had any intentions of entering the draft," Sanders said during a telephone news conference.

Sanders said that although he shattered 20 NCAA records in 1988, he looked forward to next season in college as a great challenge.

"I was surprised when I heard that there were rumors that I would be entering the draft," Sanders said.

Actually, Sanders would not be eligible for the draft, because he is not a redshirt and his class has not graduated.

The 5-foot-8 Sanders broke the stranglehold quarterbacks have held on the Maxwell the previous four years with a season in which he ran for 2,628 yards and scored 39 touchdowns, both records. That adds up to an average of 232 yards and 3.5 touchdowns a game.

The last four Maxwell winners were Don McPherson, Vinny Testaverde, Chuck Long and Doug Flutie.

Sanders easily won the Maxwell with 400 of 629 first place votes and a total point count of 2,392.
