Bush urges allies to denounce fraudulent election in Panama

WASHINGTON (AP) -- President Bush urged U.S. allies Tuesday to denounce "massive election fraud" anticipated in Panama's presidential voting Sunday, saying, "It is time for the plain truth."

In particular, Bush called on European democracies to raise their voices against alleged election-rigging by Panamanian strongman Manuel Antonio Noriega to ensure the victory of his figurehead candidate, Carlos Duque.

"Let me be clear," Bush said. "The United States will not recognize the results of a fraudulent election engineered simply to keep Noriega in power."

Bush made his remarks in a speech at the State Department before the Council of the Americas, an organization of businessmen with interests in Latin America.

The address marked another step in the United States' year-old failed campaign to force Noriega from power following his U.S. indictment on drug-smuggling charges. Fearing that Noriega will steal Sunday's election, the Bush administration is trying to discredit the outcome.

"It is evident that the regime is ready to resort to massive election fraud in order to remain in power," Bush said. "The Noriega regime continues to threaten and intimidate Panamanians who believe in democracy."

"It's also attempting to limit the presence and freedom of action of international observers and to prevent journalists from reporting on the election process in Panama," said Bush, who has not yet announced the makeup of the U.S. observer team.

"All nations that value democracy . . . should speak out against election fraud in Panama," Bush said. "And that means the democracies of Europe, they should be speaking out about this . . ."

He said, "It is time for the plain truth: the day of the dictator is over. The people's right to democracy must not be denied."

In Panama, Maj. Edgardo Lopez, a spokesman for the pro-Noriega Panamanian Defense Forces, said the opposition has been demoralized "and they know they are going to lose the election."

"They have sent an SOS to the White House, 'Urgent, President Bush to take immediate action or Noriega will stay,'" Lopez said.

Touching on developments in other nations of the hemisphere, Bush urged Nicaragua of enacting restrictive laws to thwart the opposition in elections next February.

"The result is a stacked deck against the opposition and stacked rules of the game," Bush said.

Setting out guidelines by which the United States will judge whether Nicaragua's elections are free, Bush said the government must allow outside observers to have free access to all election places and proceedings.

"It means a secret ballot on election day, the freedom to campaign, to organize, to hold rallies and to poll public opinion, to operate independent radio and TV stations as well," Bush said.

"It means the absence of intimidation either from a politicized Sandinista military or police, or from those neighborhood block committees that control peoples' ration cards," he said. "It means an end to the arrests and bullying of opposition leaders."

Bush called on the Soviet Union to end its support of the leftist Sandinista regime.

"The Soviet Union must understand that we hold it accountable for the consequences of this intervention and for progress toward peace in the region and democracy in Nicaragua," the president said.

Bush said that Paraguay "is on its way to joining the democratic mainstream" following the presidential election Monday of Gen. Andres Rodriguez.
