

in brief

Professorship honors ex-dean

A professorship in the University of Nebraska-Lincoln College of Law has been established in honor of Henry Grether Jr., a law professor and former dean.

A $100,000 endowment for the

A $100,000 endowment for the professorship was raised by alumni and friends of Grether that will provide a $10,000 stipend to the holder of the professorship.

College of Law Dean Harvey S. Perlman said he will recommend to the NU Board of Regents that it name Gretaer the first recipient of the professorship.

Author to give science lecture

The vice president for research and education at the National Wildlife Federation in Washington, D.C., will present a science-based overview of major environmental issues at the East Union Nov. 5 at 7 p.m.

W35

Gary San Julian will present a lecture titled "Bend It, Shape It, Fold It: The Earth Dilemma:" He will speak on such issues as global warming, tropical deforestation and the growing earth population.

San Julian, who recently was

San Julian, who recently was named to the vice president position, previously served as an extension wildlife specialist at North Carolina State University. He also taught courses in conservation of natural resources and in natural resource advocacy. He has authored numerous scientific and popular articles.

Biosystematics center opens

The Mary B. Totten Center for Biosystematics Technology at the University of Nebraska State Museum will have a grand opening today at 3:30 p.m. in W436 Nebraska Hall.

The center contains state-ofthe-art equipment that captures and measure the sizes and shapes of biological or other natural history objects.

The center was established with funds provided by a $15,000 gift from the Mary B. Totten Trust of Estes Park, Colo. The university and museum increased the funds to

Talk to center on politics, law

University of Nebraska-Lincoln political science Professor David Forsythe will speak on "Huran Rights and China: Lawand Politics" Nov. 2 at noon

"Human Rights and China: Lawand Politics" Nov. 2 at noon.

The talk, sponsored by the Nebraska Civil Liberties Union student group, will be moderated by John Gradwohl, UNL law professor, and Jeff Downing, a law student.

The talk will be in room 113 of the UNL College of Law.

Award nominations being taken

Nominations currently are being accepted for the Carl A. Donaldson award, which will be presented in February 1990.

The Carl. A. Donaldson award was created to recognize individuals who have demonstrated outstanding management skills. The award, given annually since 1972, is named after the founder of the University Association for Administrative Development.

Donaldson devoted 43 years to university service and made significant contributions to the growth and development of the University of Nebraska.

Nominations must be received on or before Nov. 6, 1989.

Consignment Shop

Fall Into Winter at Fashion II.

Save 10% with Student I.D.

Choose from a huge selection of winter fashions.

There are winter coats of all styles--furs, wools, leathers and more. We also have winter suits in stock to dress you for success. As well as many other winter fashions for the cold weather ahead.

33rd & Pioneers 483-1324

Hours: 10-5:30 M-F 10-7:30 Thurs. 10-4 Sat.

YEARBOOK from Page 1

in November to look at its yearbook for ideas.

He said one problem the new staff must deal with is making sure the current UNL Greek Yearbook staff members are "totally satisfied" with the new yearbook. That publication will become part of the Cornhusker Yearbook.

The Cornhusker will consist of 400 to 500 pages, about 200 of which will be devoted to the greek system.

Bruning said equal space will be given to the greek system, the residence halls and off-campus students. He said that although he won't be sure until after the Kansas State visit, he thinks the Cornhusker will include photos of seniors and campus groups.

He said the yearbook staff probably will be part of ASUN, such as the Government Liaison Committee, and be governed by the Publications Board. Thirty-four students have applied to work on the yearbook staff, he said.

John Bruce/Daily Nebraskan

ASUN will send the applicants informational letters and have a meeting for them after the Kansas trip. However, Bruning said, the first yearbook won't come out until 1991 because the yearbook pages must be delivered to the publishing company by February, and it's too late to start this fall.

To plan for the yearbook, ASUN members and journalism Sen. Allison Pollock have met with the Walsworth Publishing Company, Dean Neale Copple of the College of Journalism, and have called other colleges

The Cornhusker Yearbook was last published in 1971.

IANR Open House

New Directions-Benefits for You

Today!
32 Exhibits · 8 Tours

Headquarters for Exhibits & Tours: East Union

Tours Begin at 10:30 a.m., 11:00 a.m., 2:00 p.m., 3:30 p.m.

Sample Topics:

*Biodegradable plastics are being developed from agricultural products.

*Make your own batch of frankfurters. You'll be amazed!

*Video imagery can monitor plant growth or measure residue on soil to determine potential for erosion.

*Taste your favorite ice cream and see how scientists improve food quality in the new Food Industry Complex.

*See how scientists study child development indoors and outdoors in a play environment.

Free Admission

Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources University of Nebraska-Lincoln

The Institute of Agriculture and Natural Resources provides information and educational programs to all people without regard to race, color, national origin, sex or handicap.

