

Noted violinist, conductor to perform at Kimball Hall

By Julie Naughton
Senior Reporter

The next performance of the Nebraska Chamber Orchestra, on Tuesday at Kimball Recital Hall, will showcase a nationally known violinist and a renowned conductor.

The program, scheduled for 8 p.m., will feature violinist Eric Grossman, under the direction of guest conductor Michael Morgan.

Peggy Chesen, general manager of the Nebraska Chamber Orchestra, said she thinks the combination will be "phenomenal."

"The community will benefit from the combination of Eric Grossman and Michael Morgan," Chesen said.

Grossman, a Norfolk native, began his career in performance music at the age of seven, by performing with his sister Colette and the Sioux City Symphony under the direction of Dr. Leo Kucinski. He has been praised by the New York Times and the Omaha World-Herald for his musical ability. Grossman is a student of Dorothy DeLay and Masao Kawasaki at the Julliard School of Music in New York City.

Morgan is the assistant conductor for the Chicago Symphony, and will lead the Nebraska Chamber Orchestra during this performance. He will make his debut with the New York Chamber Symphony next season. He has appeared as a guest conductor with the St. Louis, Detroit, Houston, New Orleans, National, Hartford, Conn., and Baltimore symphony orchestras, as well as the Buffalo, N.Y., and New York philharmonics and the Texas and Northwest chamber orchestras.

Morgan also has led musical performances abroad, including engagements in East Berlin, Vienna, Austria, Warsaw, Poland and Denmark.

Both Grossman and Morgan have won several music awards. This is their first performance together, although they met in St. Louis, Chesen said.

Tickets for the performance are available from the Nebraska Chamber Orchestra office, from the Kimball/Lied box office and at the door. Individual ticket prices start at $12 with special rates available for students and senior citizens.

"We especially hope that students will take advantage of the program with their special student rates," Chesen said.

All concert-goers are invited to a complimentary pre-concert talk, to be held at 7:25 p.m. Tuesday. The talk, to be given by Professor Raymond Hagg, will be held in Room 132 of the Westbrook Music Building.
