

Nee

Nee said, "They're great."

Nee said Oklahoma proved it is for real by closing out its season with five-straight wins. Included in that streak were two victories against Missouri and single wins against Nebraska, then No. 1-ranked Kansas and in-state rival Oklahoma State.

"They're playing as good of basketball as anybody in the country," Nee said. "If they're on their game and we're on our game, it's no contest."

Nee said Nebraska cannot afford to get in a run-and-gun game with the Sooners. He said the Huskers have to find a happy medium between an up-tempo and low-tempo game in order to be successful.

"We can't play 94 feet of fastbreak basketball," Nee said. "We also can't play a 60-point game."

Nee said he doubts Nebraska could play an intentionally slowed-down game because the Sooners do things which force the tempo to be quickened. He said the most obvious of those tactics is Oklahoma's full-court press.

Nee said he doesn't mind playing a controlled up-tempo game.

"That's no problem," he said. "I think you have more chances controlling it in an up-tempo game."

SPORTS

Radio station to air baseball program

A new program, which offers a review and preview of Nebraska baseball games, makes its debut Saturday.

The program, which can be heard on KRNU (90.3 FM), will contain commentary by Tim Washburn, the station's sports director, and former Nebraska baseball player Dave Boever. The program will include interviews with Cornhusker coach John Sanders and selected players.

The 20-minute program can be heard at 10:00 a.m. each Saturday.

Boxing tournament scheduled for April

Mike Tyson and Buster Douglas won't be there, but the Southeast Nebraska District Golden Gloves Tournament will be held April 1.

The tournament will begin at 10 a.m. at the Havelock Bingo Hall at 4538 N. 62nd St. Winners of the competition will advance to the Midwest Golden Gloves competition in Omaha on April 13 and 14.

Weekend brings action for tennis teams

The Nebraska men's tennis team will face opponents this weekend in a pair of matches which will be played at sites determined by the weather.

The Huskers will square off against Drake at 1 p.m. Saturday and Graceland College at 9 a.m. Sunday. The matches will be held at the Cather-Pound tennis courts if weather permits and will be moved to the Bob Devaney Sports Center if bad weather strikes.

Nebraska men's tennis coach Kerry McDermott said the match against Drake should be tough.

"They're like a Santa Barbara team or an Oklahoma," McDermott said.

The Huskers defeated Cal State-

Santa Barbara 5-4 en route to finishing 18th at last weekend's HEB invitational in Corpus Cristi, Texas.

McDermott said Graceland, a National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics foe from Lamoni, Iowa, should be similar to Creighton. Nebraska defeated Creighton 8-1 earlier this season despite giving court time to some players not in his regular lineup.

The Nebraska women's tennis team also will be in action this weekend, as it will travel to Lubbock, Texas, to compete in three duals.

The Huskers will face Texas Tech on Friday, and will square off against Tulsa on Saturday and Texas-El Paso on Sunday.

Team seeks to strengthen standing in upcoming meet

By Jeff Apel
Senior Editor

The Nebraska men's swimming team will try to strengthen its position in the upcoming NCAA championships by staging the Great Plains meet this weekend at the Bob Devaney Sports Center.

Nebraska men's swimming coach Cal Bentz said the meet is important because several swimmers and the Cornhuskers' 800-yard freestyle relay team just missed qualifying for the NAAs at last weekend's Big Eight championships. Swimmers qualify for the NAAs by meeting certain time criteria.

The Huskers claimed their 11th-consecutive conference championship last weekend by tallying a meet-record of 687 points.

Bentz said he is confident entering the Great Plains meet. The morning portion of the meet begins at 10 a.m. today, and also will be held on Saturday and Sunday.

The three-day afternoon competition begins at 4 p.m.

All University of Nebraska-Lincoln students who present their student ID cards will be admitted free to the competition.

"I am very optimistic that this will be a good weekend for us," Bentz said. "We had a great meet last weekend. This group came together as a team better than any I have coached. It leaves me with a good feeling for this meet."

Bentz said Nebraska is looking forward to the meet because it will be more low-keyed than the Big Eight championships.

"A meet like the Big Eight championships is tough on your team," he said. "There were a few instances when a couple guys just missed their national cuts, yet they won their event."

"It's like a double-edged knife because you want to make your cuts, but you want to win for the team. Sometimes they don't go hand in hand."

Nebraska qualified five individuals in six events for the NCAA championships at the Big Eight competition. Those individuals included Jan Bidman in the 200 and 400 individual medleys, Sean Frampton in the 100 breaststroke, Peter Williams in the 50 freestyle, Curtis Croes in 3-meter diving and Matt Eastin in the 1-meter diving.

In addition, the Huskers' 400-yard medley and freestyle relay teams also qualified. The NAAs will be held March 22-24 in Indianapolis.
