

Huskers

Continued from Page 7

match. Tyggum, who could not finish a match Saturday, had spent a week suffering from back spasms which flared up during the third set.

"That's what we told them going in: They really have to hold together for four weeks," Nebraska coach Gregg Calvin said. "And it's the third week."

But the Cornhusker duo rallied to make its record 5-1 in conference play. Collins, who served out the match, received her partner's praise.

"Rachel rose to the occasion," Tyggum said. "She had to play above me and play above the other two players, and she did it. She was outstanding."

Tyggum missed time earlier in the semester with a cracked rib, too. She defaulted after three games Saturday against Oklahoma State and did not play doubles. Sunday Calvin switched the partners in singles to give both a better chance at winning. With Tyggum moving to No. 4 and Collins moving to No. 3, both responded with victories.

Despite those victories and a No. 2 doubles win by Ann Flannery and Ildiko Guba, the Huskers dropped from second to fourth in the Big Eight heading into the conference tournament Thursday and Friday in Oklahoma City, Okla.

The Oklahoma State Cowgirls, with 52 points heading into a dual Sunday against Iowa State and the favorites to win their 10th straight title, defeated Nebraska, 8-1, Saturday.

But the Huskers are one of four teams fighting for second. Oklahoma has 41 points, Kansas has 39, and Nebraska has 38. Kansas State has 28 with one dual remaining.

in brief

SPORTS

NU, OU recruiting battle deadlocked

The recruiting battle between Nebraska and Oklahoma is deadlocked at one apiece after the Cornhuskers and Sooners each snagged highly touted recruits.

Oklahoma took an early lead in the recruiting battle between the two schools when the Sooner men's basketball program signed Martin Keane to a letter of intent. Keane, a 6-foot-8 forward from Northeast Community College in Norfolk, chose Oklahoma over Nebraska, St. Johns and UNLV.

Nebraska coaches have been on Keane's trail ever since he was a high school senior in Toronto. They almost signed him then, but suggested he attend junior college to work on his grades and to rehabilitate a knee injury he suffered during his senior season.

The Nebraska wrestling program evened the recruiting battle by outdueling Oklahoma for the services of 126-pounder Trent London. London, a three-time state champion from Tuttle, Okla., gave an oral commitment to the Sooners, but signed with Nebraska.

London completed his prep career this season by finishing with a 134-3 record. He is being touted as the heir apparent to All-America selection Jason Kelber, who finished as the NCAA runner-up in the 126-pound class this year.

OH, BEAUTIFUL FOR SPACIOUS SKIES...

Each year, Americans throw away over 16 billion disposable diapers, 220 million rubber tires, 2 billion plastic razor blades and similar items that literally take thousands of years to break down. We are faced with growing environmental problems from acid rain to global warming and the depletion of our ozone layer. These problems are exacerbated by automobile and factory emissions, and the irresponsible disposal of hazardous waste. This spells out grave consequences for the air that we breathe, the water we drink and the land we live on. Perhaps it's time to change our tune.

Calvert-Ariel Appreciation Fund offers you the opportunity to begin to improve both your physical and financial environment now through a unique investment combining both stringent environmental and economic investment screens.

The Fund actively seeks to invest in companies demonstrating concern for the environment—particularly those that initiate environmental programs or take positive steps toward preserving our environment.

For more complete information about Calvert-Ariel Appreciation Fund, including all charges and expenses, call today to order a free prospectus. Always read the prospectus carefully before investing or sending money.

New! Calvert-Ariel Appreciation Fund

Environmentally strong, economically sound.

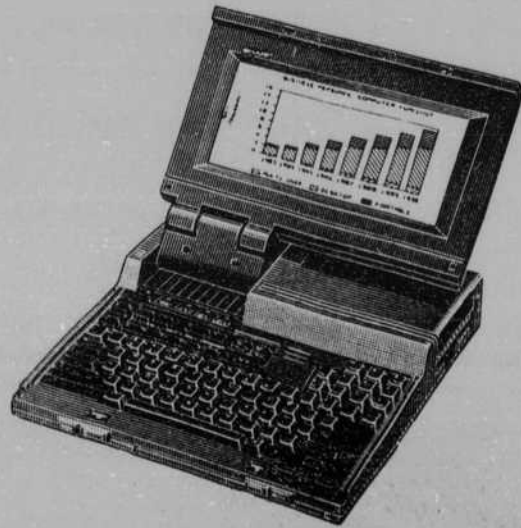

For more information:
A.G. Edwards & Sons, Inc.
Elizabeth G. Wilson
1301-03 "L" St. Lincoln, NE 68508
475-3644 / 800-742-7367

Distributor:
Calvert Securities Corporation
4550 Montgomery Avenue, 1000N
Bethesda, Maryland 20814

$699 Laptop!

Special Prices for Students & Faculty

PC-4502...$699

- CGA resolution (640x200), back-lit supertwist LCD display
- High speed processor (7.16 Mz), IBM XT Compatible
- 40MB hard disk drive with fast, 45ms access or dual 3.5" floppy drives
- Software compatible with IBM PC/XT
- 640 K RAM, expandable to 1.6MB
- Dual 3.5" 720K floppy disk drive

Also available as PC-4521 with 20 Mb hard drive at $1299

SHARP ELECTRONICS / MIDWEST HIGH TECH

Campus Representative : Steve Jorgensen 438-1668

April 27th 12:00-7:00pm

DIVING FOR PEARLS
SANDY CREEK BAND CONFIDENTIALS

- UNOPENED, NON-ALCOHOLIC CANNED BEVERAGE CONTAINERS ARE ALLOWED.
- BACKPACKS, LARGE BAGS, BEDROLLS, AND COOLERS WILL BE SUBJECT TO INSPECTION AT THE ENTRANCE GATES.
- ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGES, GLASS CONTAINERS, CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES, FIREWORKS, VIDEO CAMERAS, RECORDING DEVICES, FIREARMS, AND WEAPONS ARE NOT PERMITTED AT CORNSTOCK XX.

