

Lincoln's FRESHEST

Counterclockwise from left:

The Farmer's Market is a family affair for both shoppers and sellers. The young Whitsons, Max, 1, Shannon, 4 and Brooke, 10, keep mom company and help tend the store.

Spinner Judy Watt of York raises Angora goats and dyes the natural fibers for spinning on old-fashioned handmade spinning wheels.

Little Jeanne Renaudin from North Bend supervises the action on board Gary Barcus' pickup truck filled with market goods.

Finding a taste from home, Baohong Zhang, left, and her husband Geongqin Sun, right, both from China, take their pick of Chinese cabbage, Seward-style, from vendor Ardene G. Henning. Sun is a graduate student in biochemistry at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln.

Lincoln High School graduate Robert Winsor juggles as a hobby, for show and to pick up a few extra dollars during the lean college years at the University of Iowa.
