

Bands

Variety of bands share stage this weekend

Compiled by Mark Munn
Staff Reporter

Friday, August 3 Mainstage 8th and P streets

Mothers Big Band, a standard jazz big band, will perform from 6-7:15 p.m.

From 7:35-8:35 p.m., The Table-rockers, a blues, jazz, and R&B band featuring Annette Murrell, will take the stage.

Warner Brothers recording artists, The Dynatones, will bring their rockin' soul to the Mainstage for the street dance from 9 p.m.-12 a.m.

The Great Hall of the Depot 7th Street

For some traditional folk and ballads, enjoy Kevin Avey from 4 p.m.-5:45 p.m.

At 8 p.m., blues and country listeners can experience John Walker. Be on the lookout for Prairie Dogs.

Saturday, August 4 Mainstage

The New High Flyers will perform from 12-1 p.m. Their styles include country, swing and pop.

From 1:20-2:20 p.m., a jazz and latin group known as the Gulzia Brothers and Friends will sway those seeking some culture.

For some rip-roarin' Southside Chicago blues, Magic Slim and the Teardrops is just the ticket. He truly is a magician. They play from 2:40-3:50 p.m.

Perhaps the highlight of the festivities comes when the ever popular Charlie Burton and the Hiccups bring their humorous, blues-oriented rock 'n' roll to the stage. They will astonish from 4:10-5:10 p.m.

If you're a little bit country, sit in at 5:30 p.m. for The Sandy Creek Band.

Take yourself back to the '60s and '70s with Mr. Peabody from 6:40-7:35 p.m.

At 7:55 p.m., B and the Hot Notes will perform. They're a bit of swing, blues and rock.

D.C.'s hottest blues/rock band, The Nighthawks, will be the grand finale for Saturday night. The street dance begins at 9 p.m. and lasts until 12 a.m.

Street Stage 7th and P streets

Zapatos Alegres, a Hispanic children's dance group will perform from 12:30-1:30 p.m.

Be sure to catch the Native American Dance Group at 2 p.m. They will perform in full ceremonial dress.

For a little festive folk music, catch Sabor Mexicano from 3:30-4:30 p.m.

The Great Hall of the Depot

Classical music makes its entrance in the festivities with The Prairie Wind Quintet from 1:30-3:15 p.m.

Arlie Prokop will perform some Celtic and Irish folk songs from 3:30-5:15 p.m.

Dixieland, jazz, pop and classical music will be performed by The Nebraska Brass at 5:30 p.m.

Classical music for violin, viola and cello will be played from 7:30-8:15 p.m. by The Nebraska Chamber Orchestra string quartet.

Sunday, August 5 Mainstage

For some traditional bluegrass, savor the sounds of The Bluegrass Crusade from 12-1 p.m.

Fernest Arceneaux and the Thunders, an authentic Zydeco band from St. Martinville, La. will bring its culture to the stage from 1:20-3:40 p.m.

Reggae, salsa and SKA will be played by The Blue Mangos at 4 p.m. Be ready for some polyrhythms.

Sean McClain and Laurie Benjamin will perform folk songs from 5:15-6 p.m.

The Great Hall of the Depot

John Walker will play from 12:30-1:15 p.m., Arlie Prokop again from 1:30-2:15.

At 2:15 p.m., Ted Eschliman will play contemporary Christian music. He is one of those digital dudes.

Kevin Avey will perform for a second time from 5:15-6 p.m.

Street Stage

The schedule here is a mirror of Friday's events, with the same performers returning for those who missed the first shows.

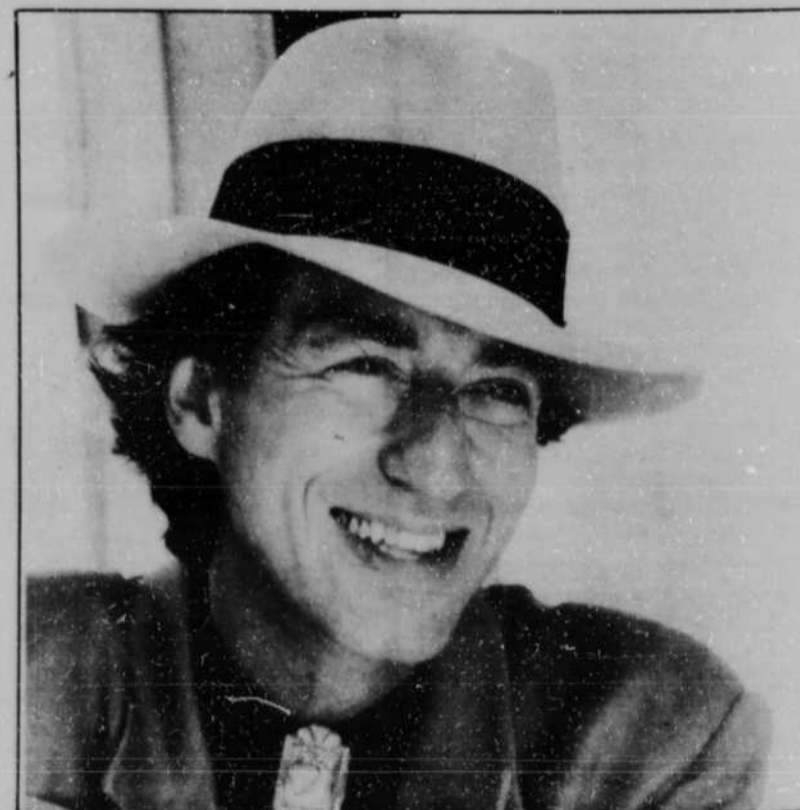

No matter what your cultural or entertainment preference, the Summertime Nebraska Festival has something for you. Bring your friends and family to enjoy some part of the festivities. Come share in the cultural diversity of our occasionally wonderful community. See you down there.

Courtesy of Innovative Entertainment Industry

Courtesy of the American Famous Talent Corporation

Courtesy of Citizen's Information Center

Left: "Rock 'n' Soul" masters The Dynatones. Lower left: D.C. blues artists The Nighthawks. Below: David Basse of the City Light Orchestra.