bury -- may be engraved with two lines. On each line, 16 characters are available.

Those buying the bricks can leave just about any type of message as long as it isn't obscene. Past examples include graduation dates, names and birthdates, special messages, one "Proud Nebraskan" brick and a brick for a favorite granddog (yes, a dog). Some companies also have purchased bricks and engraved their companies' names on them.

The bricks cost $50 each and were made available last October. Underwood said that the response to the bricks has been excellent. Approximately 2,500 bricks have been sold and more than $100,000 has been raised to date. Some $75,000 was used for this year's programming. The remaining $25,000 was kept in reserve for next year's programming.

Because interest has been so high,

Underwood said, brick sales will continue through May 1991. At that point, sales will be evaluated and possibly extended for a longer period of time, she said.

The UNL Grounds Department is starting to lay the first bricks this week, Underwood said. It may take up to a month to get the already ordered bricks laid, she said. Because the bricks are more delicate and laid by hand, installation is slower than normal.

Helios Creed, Germbox at Duffy's Tavern

Minneapolis sound-strangler Helios Creed will play at Duffy's, 1412 O St., Wednesday night.

Creed, a veteran of the Amphetamine Reptile record label, bases his music on an unbelievably distorted guitar sound. A white Jimi Hendrix from the planet Venus, Creed runs his vocals and guitar through a stack of effects pedals that rivals Mt. Everest. Creed specializes in playing solos with knobs on his pedals, as well as plucking the strings of his mutant guitar.

Opening group will be Kansas City's jolly boys, Germbox.

Violinist to play, lecture, convoke at UNL

Leopold La Fosse, violinist, will give a lecture/conconvocation at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln School of Music Thursday at 2:30 p.m., in room 119 of Westbrook Music Building, 11th and R streets.

In addition to his convocation appearance, La Fosse will be giving a doctoral colloquium Friday at 2:30 p.m. in room 119 of Westbrook. He will discuss sports psychology as it relates to music, and medical problems related to the performance of music. The general public is invited to attend both the convocation and the colloquium.

Death

the conclusion that the murders are of the pre-meditated sort.

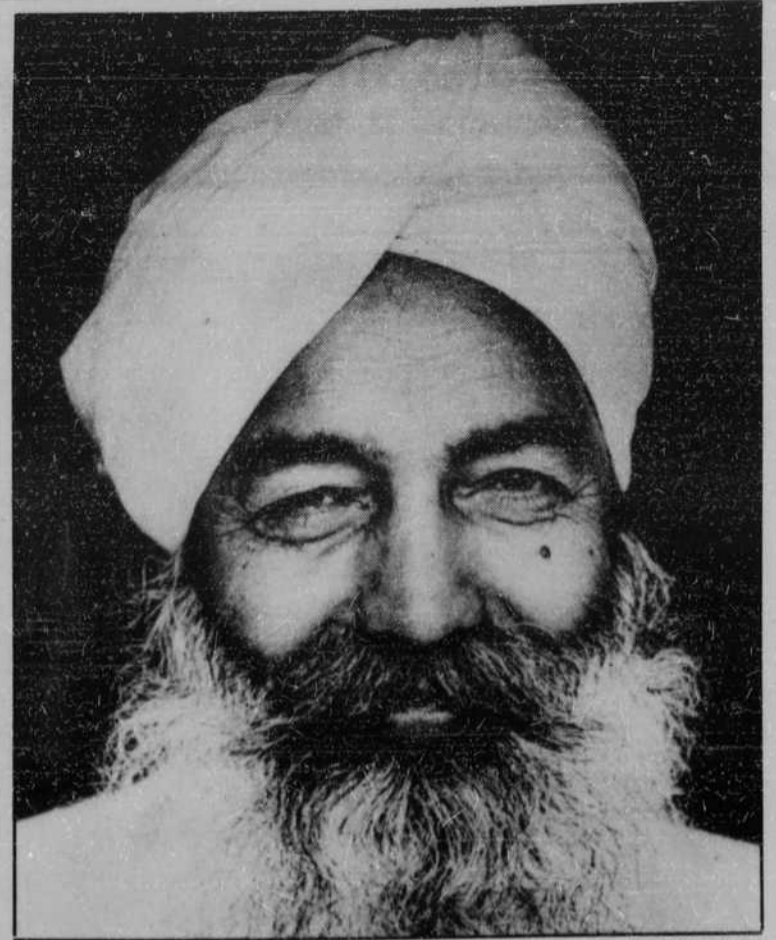

The remainder of the story involves Burke in eloquent fight scenes with wonderfully executed ballet-like spins and kicks. These, of course, atone for Van Damme's inability as an actor.

Toward the end of the story, that nasty fellow -- the Sandman -- drops in to offer his deathly cheer to Burke, instigating another important aspect of this type of movie: the ending fight scene where the better of the two men will prevail.

"Death Warrant" is a predictable picture with weak foreshadowing that gives away too much of the ending to make the story interesting.

But, in line with many of the movies being made these days, "Death Warrant" is more or less a harmless form of mindless entertainment.

"Death Warrant" is playing at the Plaza Four Theatres, 14th and P streets.
