

Michelle Paulman/Daily Nebraskan

Nebraska freshman Jeff White clears the bar at last weekend's All-Comers Meet. White finished 14th with a high mark of 13 feet, 10 1/2 inches.

Track

Continued from Page 7

Dirksen said. Saturday's quadrangular is a good meet for this time of year and especially for the younger athletes to get used to college-level competition, he said.

Pepin said the score of Saturday's meet will be unimportant because he is just looking for the teams to provide some good individual competition.

Pepin said NU's strength lies in its depth.

The Huskers are unique because they are well balanced in all areas, whereas Saturday's competition, as well as some Big Eight teams like Oklahoma, are strong in some areas, but do not compete in others, he said.

"No one group can make or break our team," Pepin said.

The Huskers got a bad break, however, when middle distance runner Kirk Petit broke his foot last Saturday at the Nebraska All-Comers Meet.

Pepin said that injury was damaging because middle distance is one of the areas where the Huskers lack bodies.

The team had some strong performances during the last meet, he said. Some highlights were provided from Stephen Golding's 55-meter hurdle time of 7.34 seconds and Tyson Smith's 7-foot 1/4-inch high jump.

Coach: NU needs fewer errors

By Erik Unger
Staff Reporter

The Nebraska women's gymnastics team will face a Missouri squad that is a lot like them, and a lot different.

Both teams are undefeated, have the ability to score big points and have the luxury of only two or three experienced gymnasts, said Cornhusker head coach Rick Walton.

But Walton said the difference between the teams shown last week is what worries him the most about Sunday's meet.

He said Missouri made only one or two mistakes en route to a 188-point performance at home, while Nebraska struggled through eight mistakes to score 183 points on the road.

"To make us competitive, we need the ability to string together routines," Walton said.

Consistency will be difficult because Nebraska still has an injury problem, especially on the bars, but Walton said the lineup is fuller in the other three events.

Shane Foster, who sat out last week's meet with an elbow injury, will compete, and Walton said he hopes to have her on the bars, Nebraska's weakest event.

Despite injuries and mistakes against Illinois, senior Lisa McCrady said team members, especially the freshmen, were more confident in practice this week.

"It's easier getting one meet under their belt," she said. "There will be no surprises."

Walton said last week's meet helped the freshmen feel like part of the team. It added morale and should help the Cornhuskers' performance, he said. It gave them a definite role on the team, he said.

Sunday's meet at the Bob Devaney Sports Center begins at 2 p.m. and will be over before the Super Bowl begins, Walton said.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Notre Dame player to enter NFL draft

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Raghieb "Rocket" Ismail, Notre Dame's talented flanker, rusher and return specialist, said Thursday that he will give up his final year of college football to enter the NFL draft.

Ismail had said repeatedly during the 1990 season that he would return for his final season. But he said the death of teammate Chris Zorich's mother made him rethink his decision.

"It made me feel that I wanted to do something for my mother and my family," Ismail said.

All-Star Game to feature Michael Jordan

NEW YORK (AP) — Leading vote-getter Michael Jordan of Chicago will join Detroit's Isiah Thomas, New York's Patrick Ewing, Philadelphia's Charles Barkley and Boston's Larry Bird in the Eastern Conference starting line-up for the NBA All-Star Game.

David Robinson of San Antonio received the most votes of any Western Conference players. Also starting for the West team will be Magic Johnson of the Los Angeles Lakers, Kevin Johnson of Phoenix, Karl Malone of Utah and Chris Mullin of Golden State.

The All-Star Game will be played Feb. 10 in Charlotte, N.C.

Ok

Continued from Page 7

83 points."

The Sooners, who have four players averaging double-figure scoring, are led by junior Carin Stites. The 5-foot, 9-inch guard averages 19.1 points a game, second in the Big Eight.

The Huskers have a slight height advantage over the Sooners, but a large margin on the boards. Nebraska leads the league in rebound margin, out-rebounding the team's opponents by 6.6 rpg. Oklahoma is the worst in the conference, being out-rebounded by 7.2 rpg.

With Wednesday's loss, the Huskers fell into a five-way bottleneck for second place in the Big Eight. No. 24 Oklahoma State leads the league at 4-1.

"We just have to keep ourselves in a position where we are still in reach," Beck said.

She said the productive previous week may have contributed to the Huskers' loss. The week before the Kansas game, Nebraska won at Iowa State 81-68, knocked off Oklahoma State 67-64 and crushed Colorado 68-53.

"After that week, I don't think we ever put the Kansas game in focus," Beck said. "We just didn't have the consistency we did in those first three games."

Rec Scoreboard

Results from Wednesday night's games.

Men's basketball

Independent B

Brown House 56, Mann's Men 32; SS Squad 60, GC Brownstar-Leiting 39, Cather 7 Ind. 52, Gators 46; Bug Eaters 57, Snee Stacks 50; Young Guns 76, Sigma Mu Upsalon Tau 30; The The 90, FCA Reserves 62; Hammer Time 77, Harbingers 56.

Fraternity A

Phi Delta Theta 53, Acacia 38; Beta Theta Pi 69, Delta Upsilon 52; Alpha Tau Omega 62, Ag Men 1 42.

Fraternity B

Beta Sigma Psi 37, Sigma Alpha Epsilon 29; Phi Kappa Psi B1 63, Acacia 50; Delta Upsilon B1 70, Phi Delta Theta 28.

Fraternity C

Sigma Alpha Epsilon by forfeit over Farmhouse; Farmhouse Magic by forfeit over Delta Tau Delta C1; Sigma Alpha Epsilon 33, Triangle-Scream C Men 32;

Chi Phi C1 24, Kappa Sigma 22; Chi Phi C2 30, Theta Chi 22; Beta Sigma Psi 56, Tau Kappa Epsilon 30; Sigma Phi Epsilon 67, Sigma Nu C1 19; Sigma Phi Epsilon C1 by forfeit over Delta Tau Delta C2; Alpha Tau Omega 42, Phi Gamma Delta 17; Pi Kappa Phi 42, Alpha Gamma Rho 20; Phi Delta Theta 58, Delta Upsilon 35.

Residence B

Spurs 38, Burr 3 West 35; Abel 7 50, Cougars 36; 8100 76, Schramm 2 64.

Residence BC

Harper 28 44, Abel 6B 18; Cather 13 B 58, Burr West B 30; Falcons B 67, Abel 12B 34.

Residence C

Abel Niners 45, Selleck 8200 25; Abel 11 55, Abel 6 18; Cather 11 64, Cather 9 24.

Women's basketball

Musketeers 35, Nu Crew 12; Volleyballers 72, Ballbusters 30; The Whippers 46, Haven't Got A Clue 42, 4OT.

Call Us.

475-7672

611 North 27th
UNL — Main &
East Campus

476-0787

11th & Cornhusker
Belmont
Harper-Schram-Smith

Get a Medium
One Topping Pizza for 30¢

With the Purchase of a
Large Regular Priced Pizza

With this coupon. Not Valid with other offers.

Additional Toppings Extra.

Coupon expires February 28, 1991.

Good at listed locations.

Fast, Free Delivery™

Limited delivery area.

© 1986 Domino's Pizza, Inc.

Our drivers carry less than $20.00.

For information about

FREE FOOD

for pregnant women,
infants, and children under
the age of 5, call:

1-800-W.I.C.I.1171

Swimmers to face Missouri

By Benji Greenberg

Staff Reporter

The Nebraska women's swimming and diving team will try to stay in the flow Saturday in a dual with Missouri at the Bob Devaney Sports Center pool.

Last weekend, the 20th-ranked Cornhuskers lost to Minnesota and opened their Big Eight season by beating Iowa State.

"We saw good things at Minnesota despite the loss, but we got back into the flow at ISU," Nebraska coach Ray Huppert said. "We need to have a positive attitude against Missouri, because they aren't going to be a pushover."

Huppert said Missouri has some excellent individuals, especially Alex Kay in distance and butterfly.

"Mizzou is much improved from last season and coach John Little has recruited the people he wants for them to be successful," Huppert said. "They're better than the last place team from last season."

The Huskers enter the meet 5-1 in duals.

Nebraska suffered a blow this week when freshman distance freestyler Jenny Melrose was ruled out for the rest of the season because of a blood clot in her lung.

Huppert said even without Melrose's injury, the team already was thin at distance freestyle but that he would shift people around.

"We're climbing a ladder so we can work our way up to the conference championships," Huppert said.

"We know what our potential is, and we still haven't done what we're capable of doing."

NU swimmers host Tigers

By Vicki Burge

Staff Reporter

Saturday's dual between the Nebraska and Missouri men's swimming and diving teams will be the third day of a three-day meet for the Cornhuskers — sort of.

According to Coach Cal Bentz' plan, the dual that starts at 1:30 p.m. at the Bob Devaney Sports Center will follow hard practices Thursday and Friday to simulate a three-day meet.

And the swimmers also will be shifting around in the meet, which will be broadcast on Nebraska Educational Television. Distance swimmers and sprinters won't be swimming in their normal races.

"Individual medley swimmers will be swimming distance freestyle and (distance swimmer) Richard Johannsen will swim back-to-back races in the 1000- and 200-yard freestyle," assistant coach Rick Paine said.

With all that going on, NCAA qualifying times are unlikely.

"I don't expect NCAA times, but a few might come close," Bentz said. "Missouri will fight... I'll admit they have never been afraid of us, but the difference is we will let our number three and four swimmers go for the big points."

Diving coach Jim Hocking said he is looking forward to the meet as a chance for redemption for last weekend's dual against Iowa State.

"I was really disappointed in our performances at Iowa State," Hocking said. "I was so glad that Cal had some good swimmers, because if the team had to rely on just our points, we wouldn't have won the meet."