selves."

Osborne said he plans on selecting one starter for quarterback, rather than alternating them for different game situations. But, he said, the decision is going to be difficult.

"The problem is that we've got a lot (of offense) in, and we're trying to work against the defenses of our first four opponents, so we're seeing a real smorgasbord out there.

"Starting Monday, we can't keep looking at four or five guys all the time. We have to start making some decisions."

Derek Brown was the leading rusher in the scrimmage, gaining 39 yards on eight carries. I-backs Calvin Jones and Scott Baldwin added 27 and 21 yards, respectively.

Corey Dixon, a sophomore split end, caught two passes for 55 yards.

Scoring:

Byron Bennett 20-yard field goal

Joseph strives for first-game perfection

By Chuck Green
Senior Editor

Mickey Joseph sat in the shade under Memorial Stadium's south stands, sweat trickling down his cheeks and nose.

"It's hot out there today," the Cornhusker quarterback muttered.

Joseph

Joseph had just passed for 66 yards and a touchdown against the first- and second-team defenses during Nebraska's final scrimmage of two-a-days, and had racked up 70 more yards and another touchdown against the Husker scout team, which was running the defenses of Nebraska's non-conference opponents.

But he wasn't happy with what he had done on the field. Not entirely, anyway.

"I can do a lot better," Joseph said. "When I play, I just try to do my job and not think about how I'm performing out there on the field. But now, looking back, I felt like we moved the ball, but not consistently, like we're capable of doing. We need to start doing that."

Joseph led the first-team offense to scores on its first two possessions. After a 20-yard field goal by Byron Bennett, Joseph hit tight end Johnny Mitchell on a 44-yard touchdown pass on the first play of his second possession against the second-team defense.

Joseph was even tougher on the scout team. He connected with wingback Tyrone Hughes for a 22-yard score against the scouts, and turned upfield for a 29-yard run, followed by a 4-yard burst around the left end for a touchdown.

Joseph credited the Husker offensive line for his success.

"Those guys are really in good shape," he said. "They looked good out there."

Overall, Joseph said, the offense performed better than in Tuesday's scrimmage, which was plagued by turnovers and mistakes.

One reason for the mistakes, he said, is the anticipation of the first game, Sept. 7 against Utah State.

"We're all ready to play," Joseph said. "Just two more weeks, two more weeks and we get an opponent. It's rough playing our defense all the time."

But for now, Joseph said, there still is work to be done, and improvements to be made.

"We're just trying to do what's best to win games," he said. "We have experience on this team, but it's not so much experience that will help us. It's doing the things it takes to execute."

I am totally hooked and once again have become a sports junkie.

But unlike most addictions, I think this is one I can live with and won't seek help to break it.

It's great to be back to normal.
