

Jim's Journal

Today I slept in really late because I didn't feel like getting up.

Mr. Peterson was sleeping on the floor in a spot where the sun was shining through.

I wanted to eat something but I didn't have enough energy to make anything.

Then I watched TV.

I went with Tony today to a place where he was going to buy a CD-player.

As we were walking into the store, he said, 'The salespeople in these places can be real animals.'

He said they practically assault you and sell you things you don't want.

We stood near the CD-players and waited for a salesperson, but nobody came for a long time.

Jim's Journal

I found a dime on the sidewalk today.

Even though a dime isn't worth much, I felt pretty good about finding it.

After walking a ways farther, I almost thought I saw another dime.

But it was just a little round metal thing.

Jim's Journal

I got up early for work today.

I fed Mr. Peterson. She was really hungry, as always.

At the copy store I made 200 copies of some kind of office report.

I pictured Mr. Peterson eating, bobbing her head like she does.

Jim's Journal

I worked at the copy store again today.

I was making 200 copies of somebody's resume.

I read a little bit of it while it was copying.

The person's career objective was 'a public relations position allowing for skill enhancement and career growth.'
