

Burglary suspects arrested

From Staff Reports

One hour after an attempted robbery at a south Lincoln liquor store, several police officers cornered and arrested three suspects at 3 p.m. Thursday at 11th and O streets.

Police blocked off O Street and surrounded the suspects' car at gunpoint. Four men were handcuffed and laid face down on the street.

Timothy Burton, 20, was charged with attempting to rob County Cork Liquor, 2702 South St., at 1:39 p.m. Thursday, and with robbing Sherill's Liquor Works, 3400 A St., owned by Sherill K. Vanderheiden, near midnight Saturday. The name of the owner of County Cork Liquor was not available.

Stanley Smith, 42, and John Knox, 23 were charged with accessory to robbery in connection with the County Cork robbery. The fourth man was questioned and released.

Police said the men carried what appeared to be a .45-caliber handgun, but actually was a BB pistol.

The three men will be arraigned today.

Serbs crush resistance of Muslims

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — The Serb-led federal army reportedly crushed Muslim resistance in a key town in Bosnia-Herzegovina on Thursday, even as U.N. envoy Cyrus Vance sought to negotiate peace in the strife-torn state.

On his arrival in Sarajevo, Vance told feuding ethnic groups that peace "cannot be found at the end of the barrel" of a gun.

In Helsinki, Finland, the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe accused Serbia and the federal army of inciting violence in Bosnia, and Germany threatened Serbia with "serious steps" if it does not halt the bloodshed.

Germany's Foreign Ministry expressed support for a U.S.-backed proposal to suspend Serbia's membership in the security association if Serbia and the Serbian-dominated army do not follow recommendations of the United Nations, the European Community and the CSCE itself aimed at ending the violence.

Several hundred people have died in Bosnia since Muslims and Croats voted for independence on Feb. 29. They have clashed with Serbs, who oppose Bosnia's statehood.

The battles escalated after the United States and the European Community recognized Bosnian independence last week, with the federal army increasingly supporting armed Serb irregulars.

After talks with Vance, Gen. Milutin Kukanjac, commander of federal troops in Bosnia, denied his army was the aggressor.

Bosnia's Serb leader, Radovan Karadzic, described his talks with Vance in Sarajevo as "very, very successful."

"We found Mr. Vance absolutely impartial and we agreed that the first task is to draw a map" on ethnic boundaries, he said.

FDA limits use of implants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many women who want to enlarge their breasts with silicone gel implants won't be able to get them, under a government policy announced Thursday that will allow implants for women with breast cancer.

The Food and Drug Administration's new policy will allow use of the implants only through controlled clinical studies designed to answer safety questions, including the health effects of implant leakage and rupture.

"The central aim of FDA's decision is to significantly limit the use of silicone gel breast implants while vigorously pursuing the necessary research about their safety," FDA Commissioner David Kessler told reporters.

He said he was "highly conscious" that some women who have lost a breast to cancer or traumatic injury or who have a breast deformity need implants. "This policy is meant to be compassionate toward these patients," he said.

Kessler cautioned, "No one should think we're resuming business as usual."

Kessler's announcement lifts a moratorium on use of the implants in effect since Jan. 6. The new policy follows the recommendations of a panel of experts that concluded in February the implants should remain on the market but under a number of restrictions.

Dr. Norman Cole, head of the American Society of Plastic and Reconstructive Surgeons, welcomed the FDA's decision to allow use of the implants for women with breast cancer, and deformities. He said the agency has taken steps to minimize potential impact on insurance coverage for breast reconstruction.

"This is the first sign that science, logic and compassion are being returned to the review process for these devices," he said.

He said that by restricting use of the implants for women who want them for cosmetic reasons, "the government has placed itself in the role of judging the morality of a woman's reasons for choosing breast implants."

Continuance granted for NU player's trial

From Staff Reports

University of Nebraska-Lincoln student Lance Gray was granted a continuance Thursday for his trial in connection with a fight Feb. 21.

Gray's attorney, Hal Anderson, appeared before Judge James L. Foster in District Court 13 and requested that Gray's trial be delayed. The trial was rescheduled for May 20 at 2 p.m.

Gray, 21, of Oswego N.Y., pleaded innocent March 11 to charges of assault and trespassing. Gray and six other UNL students were issued a total of 12 citations stemming from a fight at a house party between members of the university's football and baseball teams.

Six members of the baseball team were injured and some were hospitalized.

Police say the fight apparently started when some baseball players forced two football players to leave a house party when they refused to pay for beer. The two came back later with other members of the football team and a fight broke out, police said.
