

Five

ballad about the highs and lows of Hi-Five's career and gives thanks to the band's fans for its success.

Hi-Five kicks in the funk on "Mary Mary," which picks up the tempo of the LP.

"Let's Get It Started," and "Video Girl," are also funky, up-tempo tunes that are of the New Jack/R. Kelly persuasion. These songs are further enhanced by the fluid baritone raps of group newcomer Treston Irby of New York, who replaced Toriano Easley shortly after Hi-Five released its first LP.

This disc ends on the smooth tip with the soulful and seductive up-tempo ballad, "Whenever You Say."

One of the few drawbacks of this LP is that it is too short. "Keep It Goin' On" only has nine songs, which leaves the listener wanting more.

Hi-Five also seems to be stuck in the rut of singing a lot of ballads aimed toward females, rather than appealing to a broader audience.

Despite the shortcomings, the LP is impressive and shows Hi-Five has grown into a group that can be enjoyed by more than just the teen-age set.

The Campus Recreation Center and the University Health Center are proud to present the

SPORTS INJURY CLINIC

The Injury Prevention and Care Room at Campus Recreation and the Physical Therapy Department at the University Health Center are striving to meet the physical therapy needs of our active student population.

Students who have been seen by an athletic trainer in the Injury Prevention and Care Room will be referred either to a physician or the Sports Injury Clinic at the University Health Center.

The student must be referred to the Sports Injury Clinic and may go directly to the Physical Therapy Department the following day.
