Bill Byrne takes over Nov. 1 as athletic director of UNL

- Byrne has been athletic director at the University of Oregon since 1984.
- His accomplishments at Oregon include:
 - the $12-million Len Casanova Athletic Center, home of Oregon's football team and its athletic staff, was completed last year.
 - during his tenure, Oregon's post-season competition included football, men's and women's basketball, volleyball, wrestling, softball, men's and women's cross country, track and field and golf.
 - Oregon's athletic budget increased from $5 million in 1984 to $12.1 million in 1991-92.
- Background: Born in Boston, grew up in Idaho, assistant athletic director at San Diego State University, executive director of the University of New Mexico Lobo Club and director of alumni relations at Idaho State University.

football stadium for every game since 1962.

And Oregon has 14 athletic programs, while Nebraska has 21.

But, he said, "(Nebraska) may have an impression that because our football team is not in a huge bowl game, that this may be a second-class program. This is not. This is a first-class program."

Since his appointment, Byrne said he had gotten bags full of letters from Nebraska.

"The response from Nebraska has been phenomenal," he said. "They're glad to have me there."

Byrne said he wasn't bothered when he heard that some NU athletics boosters were upset when he was appointed to the position instead of Al Papik, UNL's assistant athletic director for compliance.

"That just shows the depth of feeling for the program," he said.

Byrne wouldn't predict whether his name would become a staple like that of Athletic Director Bob Devaney or football coach Tom Osborne.

"I will predict that I will work hard, and that I will give our coaches and athletes a chance to win on the playing fields and in the classroom."

"And we will do things the right way."

Doing things right includes having a lot of contact with athletes, he said.

Byrne meets monthly with representatives from the athletic teams at Oregon.

"By the time they are seniors," he said, "I am usually on a first-name basis with all of our athletes."

Byrne said he found his work enjoyable — so enjoyable that there is little time left over for his hobbies: fly fishing, reading and music.

But golf is Byrne's latest hobby — a good sport to pick up, he said, since Nebraska has fewer rivers and lakes for fly fishing than Oregon.

It looks like the sports lover is off to a good start.

"I just broke 90 yesterday for the first time on the golf course."

THE NAKED TRUTH ABOUT TEVA SANDALS

TEVA is the authentic sport sandal, approximated but never duplicated. Swim, climb, jump or run--TEVA sandals are amphibious, durable and hold fast to your feet in raging waters, knee-deep mud and at perilous heights.

caster County Democratic Party, said the purpose of the rally was to let the county know the Democratic Party was alive and active in the area.

"We also wanted to give an alternative to people who didn't want to stay home and listen to the utter rhetoric and trash from the Republican National Convention," he said.

Hoppe, a UNL political science graduate, said the rally mainly attracted older Clinton supporters, but said he was certain most college students favored Clinton.

Chris Funk, director of Planned Parenthood of Lincoln, said she attended the rally to show her strong opposition to George Bush and his "bankrupt" policies.

"I believe that Clinton and Gore have a viable vision for the country and will support my concerns," she said.

Although Funk could not speak for Planned Parenthood, she said the primary issue for her in the campaign was reproductive rights.

Funk said she wanted to express her disagreement and anger with Bush, who has the "audacity" to think he has the right to determine women's medical options.

Bert Harris, brother of former Lincoln Mayor Bill Harris, opened the rally by sharing his humorous imitations of Sen. Bob Kerrey, Ross Perot and former presidents Jimmy Carter and Ronald Reagan.

Harris said he hoped the rally would spark the Democratic movement in the area.

"It's a nice way to get the momentum going and gather energy," he said.

Hoppe said he thought the rally was a success.

Clinton, he said, is still leading Bush in most polls since the Republican convention, and local Democrats are becoming more active in the Clinton campaign.

"I am guaranteeing Bill Clinton will win big in Lancaster County," he said.
