

Sarajevo suffers barrage as truce collapses

SARAJEVO, Bosnia-Herzegovina (AP) — A once-promising cease-fire virtually collapsed Sunday in the heaviest artillery bombardment of Sarajevo since the truce went into effect 10 days ago.

Bosnian authorities also accused Serb forces of deploying Scud missiles in positions that threaten two northern towns. A Serb military spokesman denied the allegation.

U.N. peacekeeping troops from Britain moved Sunday to protect U.N. relief warehouses in Travnik, a town 45 miles northwest of Sarajevo that is clogged with refugees fleeing approaching Serb forces.

NATO warships began stopping and searching vessels entering Yugoslav territorial waters in line with a U.N. decision Friday to toughen economic sanctions against Yugoslavia, which now consists of Serbia and Montenegro.

Airborne radar and maritime patrol aircraft will assist seven NATO ships in coordination with the Western European Union defense alliance, NATO officials said in Naples, Italy.

Bosnians accuse Serbs of positioning Scuds

The NATO ships include five destroyers from Italy, Germany, Greece, Turkey and Britain, plus a Dutch and an American frigate, the USS Halyburton.

The NATO and European forces have been monitoring the embargo in the Adriatic since July, but they have not had the authority to stop and board ships. Most materials reaching Yugoslavia have come overland or along the Danube River.

The embargo was imposed in May to punish Serbia for fomenting the Bosnian war, which erupted after the republic's majority Muslims and Croats voted in February for independence from Yugoslavia. More than 14,000 people have been killed in the fighting.

Serb rebels have since captured more than 70 percent of the republic, and Croat forces hold much of the rest. The Muslims hold Sarajevo and little else.

In Belgrade, the Yugoslav federal and Serbian capital, the head of the Serbian Orthodox Church said Sunday that Serbia, too, might become engulfed in war.

Patriarch Pavle told the biweekly Duga he feared Serbia might be bombed or civil war might break out in regions with large Albanian, Hungarian or Muslim populations.

A U.N.-brokered cease-fire that went into effect in Bosnia on Nov. 12 had been violated in some areas of the republic but had brought the capital, Sarajevo, one of its quietest interludes in an 8-month-old siege by Serb militias.

On Sunday, however, heavy artillery shelling struck numerous areas of the capital. U.N. peacekeepers said eight rounds landed near the Bosnian presidency building. Other details were not immediately available.

Bosnia's Muslim president, Alija Izetbegovic, appealed to the United Nations to halt the alleged Serb missile deployments. He accused the Serbs of using continuing peace talks as a cover for reorganizing their forces.

A senior Bosnian army officer, who spoke on condition of anonymity, claimed as many as 12 Scud surface-to-surface missiles were moved out of the Serb-controlled northwestern city of Banja Luka in a convoy on Wednesday.

He said the missiles had been driven eastward and installed in the towns of Modrica and Odzak.

Maj. Milan Pantovic, an information officer reached by telephone at the Bosnian Serb air force command in Banja Luka, denied the existence of Scud missiles in Bosnia.

Tornadoes tear through South, leave 16 dead

By The Associated Press

Tornadoes ripped through parts of the South Saturday night, killing 16 people, leveling houses and uprooting trees and utility poles.

"It's unbelievable. We're lucky we didn't lose more lives than we did," said W.L. Whittington, mayor of Brandon, Miss. Ten people were killed in and around the town.

Tornadoes killed 15 people and injured at least 150 in Mississippi late Saturday and one person was killed early Sunday in Tennessee. Thunderstorms and tornadoes also caused damage in Alabama and Georgia. Tornadoes were reported Saturday in Texas and Louisiana.

In Brandon, 15 miles east of Jackson, a tornado smashed through a mobile home park and then skipped across town to an upscale neighborhood, where it killed three Cub Scout buddies enjoying a weekend sleepover and the father of one of the boys.

Rescue workers and residents searched through the rubble after daylight.

At the mobile home park, rescue workers used doors from smashed houses as makeshift stretchers, said Charlie Wilkinson, civil defense director for Rankin County.

At least six people were killed there, Whittington said.

The tornado roared through Brandon about midnight. It leveled houses, uprooted trees and downed hundreds of power and telephone poles. At least 86 of the injuries were in Brandon, Wilkinson said.

"It just whished through here like slicing hot butter," Constable Martin Mann said of the Rankin County town. "We've got two-story homes not bigger than a bag of firewood. They're wiped out."

"It was like a state fair — there were people all over the place," said James L. Callahan, sheriff of nearby Leake County, where one person was killed.
