The LSAT AFTER GLOAT

You see it around campus. A look of deep satisfaction. With a tinge of superiority.

It's the Kaplan post-LSAT gloat. And it's becoming perennial.

Why? Because once again, on the December 5 test administration, Kaplan students who took the LSAT saw that they'd spent their time preparing for questions that would actually be on the LSAT.

Whereas students who used other materials—including the "Princeton" Review and other competitors—once again wasted time preparing for "Roman Numerals" or "Triple True/False" questions.

From now on, when you see that look, you'll know what it is.

Solutions from your Apple Campus Reseller:
The holiday gift you can really use.

Tell your folks that more college students choose Macintosh than any other computer. They'd want you to be in good company.

Ask for an Apple® Macintosh® computer this holiday season and join all of the students who've discovered that no matter what they do, Macintosh helps them do it better and faster. That's because Macintosh is so easy to use. And the thousands of available software applications work in a single, consistent way. So once you've learned one, you're well on your way to learning them all. The advantages of Macintosh don't end when school does. In fact, the majority of Fortune 1000 companies use Macintosh computers.* So ask your Apple Campus Reseller to help you choose which Macintosh to put at the top of your holiday gift list.

Macintosh. It's more than a present, it's a future.
