- 1 Staff - City or East Campus

The James A. Lake Academic Freedom Award was established in 1980 to recognize those persons who have contributed significantly to academic freedom through acts that have supported, defended, explained, and/or applied in practice the principles of academic freedom at UNL. The previous recipients of this award were:

- 1980: James A. Lake
- 1981: No award given
- 1982: Darmond Wheeler
- 1983: James McShane
- 1984: Burt Maxcy
- 1985: No award given
- 1986: Harry Crockett
- 1987: Paul Olson
- 1988: Dermot Coyne
- 1989: James Cole
- 1990: No award given
- 1991: Campbell R. McConnell
- 1992: Ned Hedges

We are now inviting nominations for the 1993 Award. The nomination process is an informal one. Usually, a nomination will consist of a letter from the nominator describing in some detail the basis for the nomination. Of course, nominations are strengthened by supporting letters from other members of the University community. Neither nominators nor nominees need be members of the UNL faculty, but must have been connected with UNL in some capacity at the time of the acts which form the basis of the nomination. The selection process is described in the enclosed description of the Senate's Academic Freedom Award Committee. The current Committee consists of:

- Larry Waskin, Chair
- George Tuck, Senate Rep'r.
- Dick Gilbert

Nominations should be sent to:
Academic Freedom Award Committee
c/o Peggy Carson
Larry Waskin, Chair
Room 124 501 Building
City Campus, 0210

All previous nominations are considered inactive. Questions concerning nominations may be directed to members of the Committee. The deadline for nominations is March 12, 1993.

The World may owe you a living, but it's up to YOU to COLLECT. See Russ Wednesday March 3, 7:00 pm, Nebraska Union, Georgian Suite.

What a fool I was, to call you Bluff
The words "I'm sorry" could never be enough
I tried to call, but you dismissed them all

Sitting here at night, and lying to my head
What else can I say, tomorrow's a new day
Just keep the cat from pooping on your bed.
