Don't go, Dan!

Humper basketball coach should stay put

Rumor has it that Humper head cheese basketball coach Dan Knee is entertaining coaching offers from other schools. In fact, some guy told me in class yesterday that O-NO is offering Dan big money to be their coach.

The DH Editbored only has one thing to say: DON'T GO, DAN!

We love you, coach. Let us count the ways:

We love getting to the NCAA Tournament. We love getting creamed in the NCAA Tournament.

We love your accent.

We love your respect for others (especially us).

We love your guttural sense of humor (those Angela Buck jokes always kill us).

We love your slicked-back hair. And that cute, little rat face you give referees.

We love your players. We love having winners like Hoser Rama, Tony Rancher, Andre Woolly, Kelly Deadly come and go from our campus.

For all these reasons, Dan, we love you.

Don't go. Come on, Dan, don't make us beg. OK, we're on our knees, begging pretty please.

O lordy, don't go. PLEASE don't go.

Grazed and abused

NUL geek system must eliminate grazing

The time has come to end grazing in the NUL geek system.

Last week, a pledge of the Kappa Epsilon Gamma Faternity, was rushed to the Stealth Center after being forced by his fraternity brothers to graze at Memorial Stadium. They did not realize the grass at the stadium was not real.

This error is not the real problem. The real problem is long-entrenched fraternity tradition of grazing. When Nebraska citizens and NUL alumni visit the campus and see large packs of fraternity members roaming around campus, chewing on grass and regurgitating their cud, our reputation suffers.

It is also a health risk for fraternity pledges. These unsuspecting freshman come to the university to be students, to have unprotected sex and drink themselves into oblivion. But how can they do this when upperclassmen members wake them up in the middle of the nights, screaming, "It's grazing time everybody."

The sooner we take care of this problem, the sooner we can evolve into a well-respected educational institution.

DREditorial POLICY

Staff editorials represent the opinion of some guy we found living in a car. This person is usually wildly intoxicated and strung out on cough medicine. When he is unavailable, staff editorials are written by a blindfolded rhesus monkey. Editorial columnists are forced to write according to DH policy. If they refuse to submit, they are dipped in chocolate frosting and fed to wolves. This policy is determined by the random calculations of a computer named HAL.

DEAD LETTER POLICY

The Daily Harassment welcomes letters from anyone who can hold a pen. These letters become DH property and will be printed at the editor's digression. The editor has a bad home life and will use the opinion page to release aggression. If your letter is not printed it is probably because you are a complete moron with the writing skills of a garden slug. If the DH receives letters from the same person more than thrice weekly, it reserves the right to give said letterwriter's name and address to psychiatric personnel. If letters are especially extreme and moronic, the DH encourages writers to come down to the DH and apply for an editorial position.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DH snots

You snotty, self-righteous wanna-be journalists at the DH! I'm tired of you, your slanted news coverage, your liberal biases AND your ugly mommas.

Your one-sided coverage of the Squeegee house, your obvious mockery of the ANUS elections and your sensationalist, muckracking reports on our almighty Kornhumper football teams' extracurricular activities just goes to show you're all a bunch of jealous pugs. Everyone knows you all want to be like the rest of us, so quit acting.

It's obvious that you all have a Limbaugh-hatin', conservative-bashin', communism-promotin', gun control-advocatin', greek-loathin', Clinton-idolizin', baby-killin', homosexual-adorin', prairie dog-protectin' agenda and I AM FED UP! Cancel my 88-cent subscription immediately!

P.S. Gestapo. (There, I said it. It's a policy of mine to include the word "Gestapo" in everything I write.)

Crossword

Where in the world were Clavin and Knobbes, the DH crossword and the Fur Slide today? During my 9:30 lecture class, when I decided to forget about education and look at the DH, I discovered to my dismay that there was nothing in the paper but articles. I actually had to take notes and pay attention in class. This upsets me greatly. I am a student-fees paying student, and each semester 88 cents of my mom and dad's money goes to fund the DH. Now, that's a lot of bread. Though I couldn't buy a single Sunday Weird-Herald with 88 cents, I could purchase at least a half a beer at Fluffy's.

All that I ask for from you people is a little bitta humor, a ray of sunshine in an otherwise dreary day. And you have the gall to cut it out?

So, what am I left with for my 88 cents? News?!? Sports?!? Arts & Entertainment?!? What is this crap? Students don't care about this garbage. They don't want to bother with issues that may affect them, like budget cuts, the Bored of Rejects and the Deadislature.

Figure it out, DH. Students are here only to bag credit hours and don't care about the articles. Most of us buy Jon's Notes so we can do the crossword and read Clavin in class.

Wake up and smell the students.

Response

In response to J.B. Hollow's letter (DH, March 31, 1994) concerning Robin J. Toe's letter (DH, Dec. 6, 1993) which attacked Jason Whineke's letter (DH, Feb. 23, 1978) concerning a letter written in response to an article responding to a letter written by Yu No Woo (DH, Apr. 6, 1964):

Get a life. There is no way Lee Harvey Oswald acted alone.
