Weekend Outlook

Lincoln's best, worst win awards

After a semester of evaluating the best entertainment Lincoln has to offer, we have come up with some Out & About awards. These awards reflect, in our opinions, Lincoln's cream of the crop — or, in some cases, the cream of the crap.

So, without further ado:

Best Source of Carcinogens: Just about every downtown dispensary of drinks. It's hard to walk past a local tavern without sampling a fine tobacco aroma — and without subsequently having your knees buckle and your head go light.

Best Source of Artery Clogging: This could have gone to Rock 'N Roll Runza, with its banana splits big enough to make hell freeze over. But after watching the news some nights ago, we changed our minds.

Visions of tubs of movie theater popcorn used to quench our hungriest dreams. Then we found out we could eat a banana split and a double cheeseburger and get less fat. Runza, consequently, gets more of our business now.

Best Commercial for Sinus Medicine: The Bob Dylan concert Wednesday. Contact would make millions playing "Like a Rolling Stone" and saying, "Do you want to sound like this every time you have the flu? Take Contac."

Best Perpetuator of Insomnia: The Coffee House, 13th and P streets. Yes, there are other (and cheaper) places to get a cup of coffee. But at how many of them can you get wired on an espresso, a Voltaire and a Double Cafe Mocha with Steamed Milk (and a dollop of whipped cream)?

Best Place to Take a Girl to Dinner: Within walking distance: Valentino's — 13th and P streets. It's pleasantly dark, cozy and best of all, Italian. Valentino's has one of the most reasonable buffets with a $4 all-you-can-eat pizza deal after 10 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

Best Place to Take a Boy to Dinner: The Renaissance Room at The Cornhusker Hotel, 13th and K streets. Most importantly: Forget your billfold.

Best Weekend Activity for a Trekkie: The Lazer Tag at Holiday Skate World, 48th and R streets. While not having the appeal of paint-ball warfare, the blinking lights should be more than sufficient for the aspiring Capt. Jean-Luc Picard or Luke Skywalker.

Best Place to Get Cultured: The Lied Center for Performing Arts, 12th and Q streets. It has great shows and inexpensive student prices, comparably.

Best Place for Live Music: The Zoo Bar, 13th and P streets, no question about it. Runners-up: Knickerbockers, Duffy's and The Hurricane.

Best Place to Bond with Nature: The Sunken Gardens, 27th Street and Capitol Parkway. It's one of those places that seems to just radiate peace and beauty. And it's free.

Best Place to Shop: Lincoln's Historic Haymarket. Even without the Farmer's Market, the Haymarket is the best place to go to find unique gifts. Ted & Wally's is a great place to get a post-purchase refresher.

For many students, it's too late to enjoy many of these things before summer comes. But if you're stuck in Lincoln, take our advice to heart. You'll be wired, tired, active and a normal college student.
