NU win doesn't impress pollsters

Huskers drop in poll despite 17-6 victory over Wildcats

From Staff Reports

Nebraska's 17-6 victory over No. 16 Kansas State on Saturday in Manhattan, Kan., was not enough to push the Cornhuskers into the top spot in the major polls.

The Huskers, who were awarded the most first-place votes in both the Associated Press and the USA TODAY/CNN coaches' poll, fell to third in the AP poll despite No. 1 Florida's 36-33 loss to Auburn.

Osborne moved ahead of the Huskers in the AP poll.

Nebraska coach Tom Osborne shrugged off the drop, but he said the Huskers seemed to be in a similar situation last season.

"I guess that's what the vote is," he said. "There's not much I can do about that. I think we are seeing some of the same things we saw last year, where commentary shapes a lot of public thinking."

It has been almost 20 years since Nebraska beat a ranked team and subsequently dropped in the AP poll. On Dec. 31, 1974, eighth-ranked Nebraska beat Florida 13-10 in the Sugar Bowl and fell to ninth.

"I think we beat a good team yesterday," Osborne said. "I think Kansas State is a good football team, and we'll find out a little more next week when they play Colorado."

he said. "The fullback hurt them in the fourth quarter."

The Wildcats went three plays and out on their next two drives. May completed only 10 of 27 passes in the second half, and the Huskers sacked him six times.

Osborne said the Husker defense, especially the secondary, stopped the Wildcats when it counted.

Kansas State used a no-back offense at times, which forced Ed Stewart and Dumas to cover the extra receiver.

"You can't say enough good about them," secondary coach George Darlington said. "You put one of those great receivers on a linebacker, and you figure they're going to light up the scoreboard."

"Eddie Stewart and Troy Dumas had a tougher job than any of the defensive backs."

Erstad sealed the game by drilling a 24-yard field goal with 1:32 left in the game.

"We had some unbelievable near misses," Kansas State coach Bill Snyder said. "Then in the second half, our field position was just terrible."

"We just couldn't get out of the shadows. We get a big play and come back the next play and get a penalty."
