Huskers miss guard as they lose twice in a row

From Staff Reports

The Nebraska women's basketball team continued to struggle in the Big Eight with losses to Oklahoma and Oklahoma State this weekend. The losses dropped the Huskers to 0-4 in the Big Eight and 9-7 overall. The Huskers committed 31 turnovers against Oklahoma State Sunday at Stillwater, Okla., in a 69-52 loss.

Kate Galligan led the Huskers with 19 points before fouling out; Galligan also had eight turnovers. Anna DeForge added 16 points, but turned the ball over six times. Nebraska coach Angela Beck said the loss of point guard Tina McClain, who injured a knee in the first half against the Cowboys, hurt the Huskers.

Beck said she was not sure of the severity of McClain's injury. "This is not just a loss for us, this is a big loss," Beck said. "Her knee is still questionable. It doesn't look totally torn, but we need to take her home and have a specialist look at it."

The Huskers opened their trip to Oklahoma with a 63-62 loss to the Sooners on Friday. With Nebraska trailing 61-59 against the Sooners, Lis Brenden drilled a 3-pointer with 12 seconds remaining to give the Huskers a 62-61 lead.

But Oklahoma's Misty Van Curen hit a layup with two seconds left to give the Sooners the win.

Husker team effort evident despite loss at weekend dual

From Staff Reports

The 20th-ranked Nebraska swimming and diving team lost a dual with 13th-ranked Arizona State 129-114 at the Bob Devaney Sports Center Sunday.

The Huskers trailed 116-110 entering the 400-meter freestyle relay, the dual's final event, and could have won the dual with a relay win. But Arizona State's 'A' team beat Nebraska's best team by almost three seconds to seal the win.

The Huskers' chances to win the meet may have also been hurt by two false starts that led to disqualifications. Francois Boshoff was disqualified from the 50-meter freestyle, and Jose Isaza was disqualified from the 100-meter freestyle because of false starts.

Despite losing the dual, Nebraska dominated the diving competition. Jeff Bro led the Huskers in the 1-meter diving competition with a 329.95 score. Nebraska took the top six places in the event.

The Huskers also took the top five spots in the 3-meter competition. Nebraska swimmers did not fair as well as the divers.
