

Pizza restaurant hits homer

By Gerry Beltz
Restaurant Critic

Just in time for more baseball games, Home Team Pizza has arrived in Lincoln.

Home Town Pizza isn't a free agent, but has several locations in Omaha and Iowa. The only Lincoln location of Home Town Pizza opened for business last week at 230 S. 17th St., the former home of Pizza Shuttle.

Five sizes of pizzas are available at Home Team, ranging from the 10-inch small to the 20-inch Huger Huge, which Home Team claims is 10 percent bigger than the Pizza Hut Bigfoot pizza.

People who like middle-of-the-road crust might be a little upset with Home Team Pizza; the three varieties of crust offered are thin, extra thin and thick.

Like any pizza place that's worth a darn, Home Team Pizza offers combination pizzas, ranging from the Home Run (your standard combo) to the outlandish Grand Slam (all 16 ingredients).

Also offered are canned beverages (Pepsi products) and cheese bread. Pizzas can be ordered for delivery or carryout.

I walked in on a Friday night and ordered a small pizza, half pepperoni and black olive and half Meatzza combo (four meats and double cheese) and an order of cheese bread. Total bill with tax: $10.41. A little pricey, but still pretty good for that much food. And available coupons and specials available are excellent.

There is a menu available to keep around as a reference, but many important prices (additional ingredients, combo-pizza prices, etc.) are missing from the menu, thus creating some confusion and raising extra questions.

Everybody working was very friendly, and service time was under 10 minutes, which is pretty fast for a Friday night.

Unfortunately, the cheese bread wasn't much to savor; it was rather dry with very little cheese. Beyond being edible, it wasn't that great.

The pizza, however, was a real treat. On the Meatzza side, everything was very tasty and hot, and the Italian sausage had a real zing to it, much more than some national pizza chains offer.

On the pepperoni/olive side, the ingredients actually had taste! The twang of the olives made the word "fresh" leap to mind, and the pepperoni was pretty good, too.

Although the pizza sauce was a bit bland, the entire experience was well worth it. On a scale of a pop fly to a grand slam, I'll give Home Team Pizza a stand-up double (better than average).

MUSIC REVIEWS

Sonic Youth
"Made in USA"
Rhino Records
Grade: B-

Motion picture soundtracks are hot. From the retro-rock of "Forrest Gump" to the soul/surf hybrid of "Pulp Fiction," it was inevitable that lost soundtracks from the past would eventually start springing up. Enter "Made in USA."

This recording was written, performed and produced entirely by New York's avant-garde rock pioneers Sonic Youth in 1986 and has sat in the can until now.

The collection of swirling and scraping songs, mostly instrumentals, is like a still photograph of the band's pre-success sound.

Many of the songs were cut from the final edit of the film. So, most of these songs are appearing for the first time anywhere. Releasing these tracks nine years late was no accident. In 1986, alternative bands were about as economically viable as full-length recordings of white noise. Today, alternative is remarkably marketable and Sonic Youth has moved from underground to legendary status.

Although songs like "Pre-Poured Wood" and "Smoke Blisters 1 & 2" deserved to be released and widely listened to years ago, it's good to know these gems won't totally be forgotten. And it's good to know that someone in the recording industry thought so, too.

Guided By Voices
"Alien Lanes"
Matador Records
Grade: A

The musical quest of Guided By Voices down "Alien Lanes" sounds much like the musical quest of the savage young Beatles during the Hamburg era.

It is surprising how much modern alternative exploration into the stripped-down heart of rock-n-roll sounds like the early 1960s exploration into stripped-down rock-n-roll.

"Alien Lanes" features a mega-lithic lineup of 28 songs. These songs are short — few exceed two minutes, but they are no-nonsense, tight arrangements that are complete songs in their own right, unlike the song snippets on the Beatles' "Abbey Road."

The ideas and song changes in each short track could be expanded into longer epics, but Guided By Voices follows the '60s songwriting ethic of writing prolific amounts of creative bursts that leave fans begging for more.

Everything about this band suggests speed. The recording is loose and has a one-take feel. The stream-of-consciousness lyrics sound like they come more from writing swiftly rather than premeditated confusion.

Guided By Voices has thrust the strenuous songwriting requirements of yesteryear upon itself, setting a higher standard than many of its contemporaries.
