Pitcher shows hitting ability

By Derek Samson
Senior Reporter

Nebraska pitcher Angela Blackwood seized the opportunity to help out her own cause. But she didn't need any help. The freshman from Broken Arrow, Okla., pitched a three-hit shutout in Nebraska's 6-0 victory over Wichita State in the first game of Thursday's doubleheader. Just in case something happened on the mound, Blackwood went 3 for 4 at the plate with three RBIs.

pitching, that I'm able to get it back. It takes some of the pressure off." The only pressure Blackwood faced in the first game — which was her fourth shutout of the season — came in the fifth inning. With Nebraska leading 2-0, Wichita State loaded the bases with its No. 9, 1 and 2 hitters coming to the plate. Blackwood struck out all three hitters to get herself out of the inning. The pressure was much different in Nebraska's 4-2 win in the second game.

Blackwood was 1 for 3 at the plate with an RBI as a designated hitter in the second game, but that wasn't her biggest contribution.

With no outs and the bases loaded in the seventh inning, Blackwood was called in to end the Shockers' threat. She did just that, striking out two of the next three batters, while the other was forced out at home.

The save was Blackwood's first of the season, while the win improved her record to 18-9.

Golf team signs on top-notch prospect

From Staff Reports

The Nebraska men's golf team signed an in-state prospect to a letter of intent, Coach Larry Romjue announced Thursday. Lincoln High golfer Steve Friesen signed a letter of intent to play at Nebraska next season. This spring, Friesen has placed in every tournament. He finished first at the Grand Island Invitational and at Lincoln High's quadrangular.

Romjue said he expected Friesen to be a valuable asset to the Husker team. "Steve's had an outstanding high school career, and he is an excellent addition to our program," Romjue said. The Cornhuskers are coming off a seventh-place finish at the Big Eight Championships last weekend. Friesen should be able to help improve on that. "We've got a young team right now, and Steve gives us another extremely talented player," Romjue said.

Friesen placed fifth at the Class A State High School Tournament last year, and has also qualified for and played in numerous junior golf tournaments across the country. Lincoln High golf coach Sam Sharpe said the Huskers were getting an outstanding golfer and individual. "They are getting a very good, well-rounded player," he said. "He is a complete player, not only physically, but mentally and he is very dedicated to the game."

Nebraska to play host to national wrestling duals

From Staff Reports

For the fourth straight year, the Nebraska wrestling team will play host to the Cliff Keen NWCA National Dual Meet Championships. Cornhusker coach Tim Neumann announced Thursday that the National Wrestling Coaches Association had awarded the event to Nebraska for the next two seasons. The National Duals are set for Jan. 20-21 next season, at either the Bob Devaney Sports Center or the NU Coliseum, the site of the last three National Duals. "This year they put the event out on a bid process," Neumann said, "and the fact that other people bid on it shows that it has turned into a premier event." "We are glad we have been able to take the meet to that level." The National Duals includes the top eight finishers from the previous year's tournament, the NCAA Division II, III and NAIA champs and five at-large entries.

More Huskers sign with NFL

From Staff Reports

In addition to the seven players taken in the NFL draft, four Nebraska players signed free-agent contracts and one signed on in the Canadian Football League. Tight end Eric Alford signed with the New England Patriots. Defensive tackle Terry Connealy signed with the New York Jets, while kicker Tom Sieler signed with San Francisco. Linebacker Ed Stewart signed with the Carolina Panthers. Tight end Gerald Armstrong signed with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the CFL.
