Witness admits seeing car resembling O.J. Simpson's

By LINDA DEUTSCH
AP Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A car similar to O.J. Simpson's Bronco sped away from the murder scene, a defense witness acknowledged Wednesday, but he fiercely denied recognizing one of two angry voices he heard that night as Simpson's.

"Didn't you (say) ... 'I know it was O.J. It had to be him?'" Deputy District Attorney Christopher Darden asked during cross-examination.

"I never said that. Absurd!" exclaimed Robert Heidstra, who lives around the corner from the condominium where Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman were slain and was walking his dogs the night of the murders.

"I'm so mad at both of you guys that I'm about to hold both of you in contempt."

JUDGE ITO

Heidstra's testimony came during a court session marked by an outburst by Judge Lance Ito, who stormed off the bench and warned two attorneys they faced "severe sanctions" if they continued to personally attack each other.

Heidstra reluctantly confirmed that he once described a white Jeep-like vehicle speeding away from the condo about a half hour after the time Simpson allegedly had driven his white Ford Bronco there to commit murder. Heidstra acknowledged that the vehicle he saw "could have been a Bronco."

On redirect examination, defense attorney Johnnie Cochran Jr. elicited from Heidstra the observation that the vehicle turned a corner and headed south, away from Simpson's home.

Heidstra's testimony is key to the defense, which is challenging the prosecution's chronology for the night of June 12, 1994, to show that someone other than Simpson could be the murderer.

Darden intimated that a woman who often conversed with Heidstra in his native French has told prosecutors he identified one voice he heard that night as Simpson's.

But Heidstra said he couldn't have recognized Simpson's voice because he has never spoken to the defendant and can't remember ever hearing him on TV.

He also denied saying that one of the voices he heard was a black man and told jurors he would be unable to identify someone's race from hearing a voice.

Darden's questions about race set off one of the most vitriolic exchanges of the trial between Darden and Cochran.

Ito, who wound up shouting at the lawyers and the witness and sending jurors out of the room, threatened the sanctions against the two black lawyers if there are any more personal attacks.

"I'm so mad at both of you guys that I'm about to hold both of you in contempt," Ito warned after Cochran accused Darden of asking racist questions and Darden protested.

"I've always considered the question of race in this case to be a questionable issue, your honor. However, this is the witness's statement and if the statement is racist then he is a racist, not me," Darden said.

Addressing Cochran directly, Darden said some of the defense lawyer's comments have "created a lot of problems for my family and myself."

Cochran and Darden have had a contentious relationship throughout the case, and they clashed when Darden argued against the defense use of a racial epithet in attacking a police detective as a racist. Darden has accused the defense of improperly injecting race into the case. Cochran has attacked Darden's legal skills and suggested he was chosen for the case only because he is black.

The judge's outburst surprised jurors, who jumped when Ito shouted, "Wait! Wait!" and abruptly ordered them out of court saying, "Ladies and gentlemen of the jury, please leave!" They were on their feet before he finished his sentence.

When the jury returned 20 minutes later, Ito apologized and told Heidstra: "I want you to understand I'm not mad at you, but I have some things on my mind."

Darden accused Heidstra of tailoring his testimony to help Simpson after prosecutors decided not to call him as a witness. Again, his accusations were based on interviews with the French-speaking Patricia Baret, an employee for the veterinarian who treats Heidstra's two dogs.

"Did you tell Miss Baret you thought O.J. Simpson was going to kiss you when he got out of prison?" Darden asked.

"I don't know where she got that. It's absurd," Heidstra said.

The witness acknowledged he was "disappointed" when the prosecution didn't call him to testify but denied he had changed his story to benefit the defense or to make money off his story.
