three of which came in the first half. The Tigers also punted 11 times.

The Tigers rushed for a season-low 39 yards on 39 attempts and had only 83 yards passing for 122 total yards. Missouri's offense did improve some over last week, though, as the Tigers gained four more yards of total offense against Nebraska.

Smith said Nebraska's defense played a part in the Tigers' struggles.

"It was a hell of a revampment," Smith joked. "There are certain things we know we have to do more. We still ran the same plays, but when it just comes down to it, you only have so many plays."

Unfortunately, 2-4 Missouri may have had too far to go and too few plays to execute Saturday.

Against Nebraska, the Tigers used three quarterbacks — Brandon Corso, Kent Skornia and Corby Jones.

Smith put Jones, who was brought out of a redshirt season to play against Nebraska, in the game to give the Tigers a new look on offense. But Jones had just 13 yards rushing on eight carries, and one of his two passing attempts was picked off by Tony Veland.

Smith said Missouri kept the offense simple, so Jones could adjust.

"I didn't go out there and make any stupid decisions," Jones said. "Some players have butterflies, but after my first play out there, I was ready to go."

the corner of the end zone by split end Brendan Holbein for a touchdown as time expired. The touchdown put Nebraska up 28-0.

"That's not the way we practiced it, but I'll take it," Frazier said.

The defense came through again at the start of the second half when junior Terrell Farley blocked a punt out of the end zone for a safety and a 30-0 lead with 9:42 left in the third quarter.

The offense dominated after the safety as it scored on its next four possessions.

After the safety, Green finished Nebraska's next drive off with a 9-yard touchdown run, and Frazier followed with a 6-yard touchdown pass to Sheldon Jackson on the next possession.

The pass gave Frazier five touchdowns on the day (three rushing and two passing) and 64 on his career, breaking Steve Taylor's all-time Husker record of 62 touchdowns.

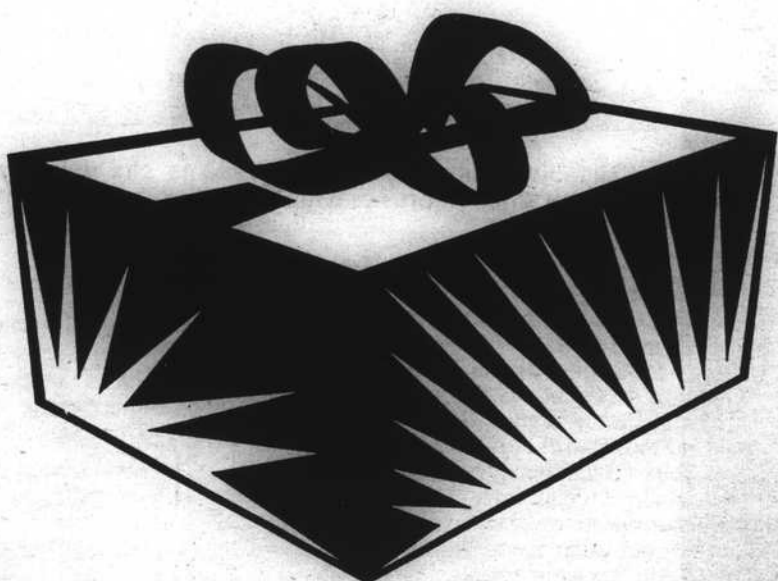

Quarterback Matt Turman and I-back Damon Benning both followed with touchdown runs to end Nebraska's scoring at 57 points.

Missouri didn't pass the 100-yard mark in total yards until the fourth quarter, with a little more than five minutes left in the game.

"We don't talk much about total yards, but holding them to that much was really sweet," linebacker Ryan Terwilliger said. "We've steadily been improving."

as we can depending on her health," Noth said. "She was doing fine, and we discussed in between each game whether or not we would leave her in the match."

Nebraska won its 15th consecutive match and extended a school record by winning its 45th straight game. Despite the lineup experiments, Noth said the coaching staff was disappointed that Nebraska struggled at times against 4-16 Missouri.

Weston led all players with 11 kills, 14 digs and hit a match-high .455. Outside hitter Billie Winsett added eight kills, six digs and two solo blocks.

The Huskers held Missouri to a .062 hitting percentage, the third time this season a Nebraska opponent has had a negative percentage this season. But the Huskers hit only .279, more than 50 points below their season average, and committed 11 service errors.

"We try to take a step toward the national championship in every match," Noth said. "In this match, I think we took a baby step backwards."
