UNL dance alumni Mark Jarecke and Cary Twomey.

Performing without music, the dancers seemed to be reading each other's minds because their syncopation was excellent.

The production ended with "The Nebraska Waltz Project," choreographed by visiting dance teacher Anita Lemon. The seven-part production went from dramatic to humorous to lively to sleepy.

Well, the last number was "The Big Sleep."

It was nice to see that Nebraska choreographers can create such refreshingly new work, and "Postcards from Nebraska" deserves more than a postage stamp of approval.

Additional performances are Friday and Saturday night at 8 p.m. and Sunday at 3 p.m. Tickets are $6 for students, $7 for faculty, staff and senior citizens and $9 for the general public.

Story of war vets shows buried truth can hurt, heal

Theatrix's latest production, "The Speed of Darkness," will hold you at the edge of your seat as it examines what the truth can do if buried too long.

Director Mark A. Klemetsrud has assembled a top-notch cast to bring this gripping drama to the Johnny Carson leads the cast wonderfully as Joe, a much-needed tension breaker, Eddie Vietnam veteran who has made a is a wonderful and talkative young name for himself in his small town.

Steve Shields, as Joe's homeless war buddy, Lou, is a perfect counterpoint for Joe. He provides an ample amount of comic relief, but never really loses the sense of sadness and loss needed to make Lou believable.

But the highlight of the show was Reggie Barnes as Eddie, the boyfriend of Joe's daughter, Mary. Serving as a

> The only real flaw with the production was that the blackouts between scenes seemed to cause the energy to drop after every scene. "The Speed of Darkness," playing at the Johnny Carson Theater through Sunday, is a wonderful drama examining truth and how it can both heal and destroy often at the same time.

Billy's rocks release party

By Patrick Hambrecht

The Billy's, a Minneapolis band with a fun Southern rock style, play at a CD release party tonight at Knickerbockers, 901 O St.

The group's new album, "All American Lounge," mixes casual Tom Petty-like vocals with occasional bursts of Skynyrd-sounding guitar thunder.

The first song, "Everyday Joe," has a snappy introduction reminiscent of Grand Funk Railroad's "We're An American Band." It's a nice song about their own band and how nice and unassuming they are, and it features some neat-o keyboard work songs, it's the only track on the alburn catchy enough to get stuck in someone's head or radio. Maybe it will be enough.

Although "Everyday Joe" is followed by a couple of pretty good

The Billy's music is a comfortable counterpart to the work of other instant classic-rock artists, like Bob Seeger or the Eagles. Inoffensive and adequately rhythmic, this band is sure to add a pleasant sensation to your beer or other favorite beverage.

It seems one CD release party is not enough for the Billy's they've had one in every Midwestern town from Missoula, Mont., to St. Cloud, Minn.

And now this American band has come to town. Come to party down.

The music starts tonight at
