The Good, the Bad, and the Ugly.

See that doughnut in the middle? All sweet and slick! Watch out-it's loaded with sugar and fried in fat.

Consider the armadillo on the right-the ugly one with the French accent; made with just enough flour to hold the shortening together.

Discover the goodness of a Bruegger's bagel. Made of only natural, wholesome ingredients like high gluten flour, fresh yeast, and pure barley malt. Go with the good.

Abortion opponents gather for protest

WASHINGTON (AP)—As Congress moves closer to banning some rare late-term abortions, abortion opponents gathered in the nation's capital for their annual march to the Supreme Court to protest its landmark Roe v. Wade decision 23 years ago.

The abortion debate appears to have taken a back seat to budget and tax matters in this presidential election year. Nonetheless, it remains one of the most emotional and divisive public and political issues facing Americans.

Thousands of abortion opponents from across the country have planned to rally near the White House at lunchtime Monday before marching to the Supreme Court, as they have done every year since 1974.

The event comes as Congress is moving closer toward dealing a major blow to the 1973 court decision by prohibiting a specific abortion procedure used in late-term pregnancies.

The Senate and House have each voted to ban the rarely used procedure, marking the first time since Roe v. Wade that Congress has acted to prohibit a specific abortion method. Differences in the House and Senate versions of the bill must be reconciled before it can be sent to the president.

President Clinton has threatened to veto any such legislation.

Meanwhile, abortion rights supporters were marking the anniversary as a day to celebrate.

"It will be a lifelong struggle."

CARDINAL BERNARD LAW
Archbishop of Boston

"Twenty-three years ago (the court) saved women from the shame and degradation of back alley abortions," said Kate Michelman, president of the National Abortion and Reproductive Rights Action League. "And yet today the freedom of choice is in more jeopardy probably than at any other time since," she said.

The 1973 court decision declared that women's unrestricted access to abortions during the first three months of pregnancy was part of the constitutional right to privacy.

Cardinal Bernard Law, Archbishop of Boston, called the ruling "tragic." Justice for unborn children who cannot speak for themselves can be achieved only through a combined effort to change laws, attitudes and the "dire circumstances" that lead some women to contemplate abortion, he said.

"It will be a lifelong struggle," predicted Law, chairman of the Committee for Pro-Life Activities of the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Arafat triumphs in election

GAZA CITY, Gaza Strip (AP)—Winning 88 percent of the vote, Yasser Arafat emerged Sunday from the first Palestinian election with a resounding mandate to complete peace with Israel and lead his people to independence.

Final results of the race for presidency released by the Central Election Commission late Sunday gave Arafat 88.1 percent of the total vote and his opponent Samiha Khalil 9.3 percent. Officials said that 2.6 percent of the ballot slips were invalid.

Arafat loyalists will also control the newly elected 88-member Palestinian parliament.

Despite the historic event, the mood in the West Bank and Gaza Strip was subdued Sunday as Palestinians began to observe the Muslim holy month of Ramadan with dawn-to-dusk fasting.

Arafat joked Sunday about his landslide victory, suggesting a lower rate of approval would probably have looked more democratic. "I was looking for 51 percent," Arafat said after meeting with former U.S. President Jimmy Carter, who led a 40-member election observer team.

The voting was marred by reports of fraud, violations that ranged from stuffing ballot boxes to voting more than once to illiterate voters having their ballots filled out for them by Arafat loyalists.

Carter said Sunday there were problems in the voting, but not on a scale that would have altered the outcome.
