

Party to honor national champs

From Staff Reports

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln Athletic Department has made a declaration. It's party time.

A celebration honoring the football and volleyball teams and UNL's marching band will be Friday, April 19 in Memorial Stadium.

The football team defeated Florida in the Fiesta Bowl on Jan. 2. The volleyball team defeated Texas on Dec. 16 in the championship match of the NCAA Tournament. The UNL marching band recently won the Sudler Trophy, awarded to the nation's top marching band.

The celebration will start at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $3, and net gate profits will be donated to Love Library.

The celebration will feature presentations of the championship rings to players, videos on the HuskerVision screens and a ceremony to honor the 1970 and 1971 national championship football teams.

The UNL marching band will open the celebration with a five-minute performance.

Also, the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame MacArthur Bowl and the National Association of College Football Fans national championship trophies will be presented, along with the Sears and The Associated Press national championship trophies.

On Saturday, April 20, the Huskers will play the annual spring game at Memorial Stadium at 1 p.m. Former quarterback Tommie Frazier's jersey will be retired in a ceremony before the game.

Legislature Notes

SIGNED BILLS

As the 1996 Nebraska Legislature session winds down, Gov. Ben Nelson's bill signing pen has been seeing some action.

Early last week, Nelson signed 14 bills into law, including LB908, which will punish "technology-aided peeping toms."

The bill, which passed the Legislature 45-0, will make it illegal to view or record by any electronic means, a person in a state of undress.

The bill includes but does not limit itself to tanning booths, dressing rooms, restrooms, showers and locker rooms.

FAMILY POLICE ACT

LB1001 had an emergency clause placed on it to go into effect immediately. The bill amends the Nebraska Family Policy Act and says that relatives should be given preferred status when out-of-home placements are considered for children. The bill also says that the children's best interests are primary in family unification decisions.

WINDING DOWN

Senators have only 11 days left in the 1996 session and will be burning the midnight oil trying to get to all of the bills still awaiting debate.

Omaha Sen. Ernie Chambers' speed limit bill, LB901, is still two stages away from becoming law.

And debate has not yet begun on LB1380, Lincoln Sen. John Lindsay's bill that would make abortion illegal when a sign of life is present in the fetus.

Senators resume property tax debate today and expect to work well into the evening.

Moeser

An expanded honors program will attract high quality students, he said.

Other goals in the area of instruction at UNL include:

- expanding study abroad programs,
- finding efficient ways to evaluate and reward professors,
- providing more opportunities for internships,
- increasing graduate stipends,
- providing more faculty advising and mentoring for undergraduates,
- and providing a strong English language program for foreign students.

UNL will move quickly in the area of research as well, Moeser said, and the growth of Nebraska's economy depends on the growth of research at UNL.

During the next five years, UNL will need to work to increase external funding for research, he said, and use research to the fullest potential.

In the future, Moeser said, the area of outreach will gain even more importance.

"Outreach is a statewide mission," he said. "We need to provide state-of-the-art distance learning."

Finally, improving the campus community and environment also will be essential, Moeser said.

To improve, UNL must renovate classrooms and laboratories, he said.

"We teach through our environment," Moeser said. "That can be positive or negative. I'm impressed by the physical beauty of the campus. Inside the classrooms, I'm embarrassed by what I see."
