Gymnasts score big in two meets

By Gregg Madsen
Staff Reporter

Saturday night's dual gymnastics meet at the Bob Devaney Sports Center produced mixed results for the Nebraska men's and women's teams, but similar reactions from both Cornhusker coaches.

Bartlett
No. 1 Ohio State.

The men's team, ranked No. 5 in the nation, scored its highest team mark of the season but dropped a 231.075-229.075 decision to

At the same time, the eighth-ranked Nebraska women's team notched the highest team score in school history with a 195.75-192 win over Southern Utah.

Both men's coach Francis Allen and women's coach Dan Kendig were pleased with the performances.

Kendig said the record-setting score didn't surprise him.

"I was confident we could shatter the school record tonight," Kendig said. "This being our last home meet seemed to inspire everyone."

The Huskers set school records in the floor exercise (49.225) and the uneven bars (49.3), and had a season-high mark in the balance beam (48.275).

Junior Shelly Bartlett took the all-around title with a career-best 39.25. Senior Joy Taylor finished second at 39.2, and freshman Misty Oxford was third with a 38.85.

Nebraska gymnasts took first place in every event. Junior Kim DeHaan won the floor exercise with a school record-tying 9.95 and the uneven bars with a 9.925. Freshman Laurie McLaughlin won the balance beam (9.775), and Taylor won the vault with a 9.850.

Although the Husker men weren't nearly as dominating as the women, Allen said he was encouraged by Nebraska's performance against the Buckeyes.

"I don't like to lose, especially at home," Allen said. "But I'm handling this well. To me, this is the best meet of the year."

The cause for optimism was the Huskers' ability to hang with Ohio State throughout the meet, Allen said. Nebraska led 115.65-115.62 after three events.

"We were in it, no doubt about it," Allen said. "If we would have gone 100 percent on the horizontal bar, we could have won it."

The Huskers posted season-high marks in the floor exercise (38.975), pommel horse (38.975) and the still rings (38.375).

Ohio State junior all-arounder and Olympic hopeful Blaine Wilson won the all-around with a 58.625. Nebraska sophomores Jim Koziol (56.95) and Bill Mulholland (56.05) finished second and third, respectively.

True freshmen Marshall Nelson and J.D. Reive provided a scoring boost for the Huskers, Allen said. Nelson scored career highs in the pommel horse (9.775) and the parallel bars (9.4).

"We were playing great defense," Fresno State coach Jerry Tarkanian said. "We were executing our offense, and we were doing some really good things. Then everything went haywire for us."

The Bulldogs took a 34-21 lead with 7:41 remaining before Nebraska rallied, going on a 14-0 run and eventually taking a 35-34 lead with 4:05 remaining in the first half.

At halftime, the Huskers led 45-40 and opened the second half with another run. Nebraska came out of the break with a 12-1 run to take a 57-46 lead.

Nec said the Huskers survived a Penny Heyns became the first Nebraska swimmer ever to win a national title Friday in Ann Arbor, Mich., at the NCAA women's championship meet.

Heyns, a senior from Amanzimtoti, South Africa, swam a pool-record time of 1 minute, 17 seconds to win the 100-yard breaststroke. Heyns added a silver medal in the 200-yard breaststroke with a time of 2:09.57.

Her performance led the Cornhuskers to 167 points, good for 10th place, the second-best finish in school history. Stanford won the national title with 478, outdistancing Southern Methodist.

Nebraska junior Julia Russell finished third in the 100 breaststroke with a career-best time of 1:01.45. In the 200 breaststroke, Russell also placed third with a time of 2:12.12.

Sophomore Mikaela Lauren earned a victory in the consolation heat of the 200-yard butterfly with a time of 2:00.40.

Husker divers T.D. Rowe and Travis Niemeyer made their spring break memorable at the Zone D NCAA Qualifying Meet in Fayetteville, Ark.

Rowe, a freshman, finished sixth in the 3-meter dive with 437.80 points. She also finished fourth in the 1-meter board. Niemeyer finished third on the 1-meter board, totaling 490.30 points, and he scored 560.40 points in the 3-meter event. Niemeyer came in second

The Nebraska baseball team fell to 2-6 in the Big Eight and 8-16-1 overall after being swept by Missouri in a three-game series this weekend.

The Tigers improved to 16-7 on Sunday after defeating the Cornhuskers 10-8 in 12 innings.

Junior Jonas Armenta made his third start of the season, allowing six earned runs on eight hits in 7 1/3 innings. Armenta, who struck out a career-high eight batters, lowered his earned-run average to 9.22.

Junior Steve Fish entered the game in the eighth with the bases loaded and one out. The Tigers took a 6-5 lead after Fish walked in a run and gave up a two-run single to first baseman Aaron Jaworski.

The Huskers reclaimed an 8-6 lead in the ninth, capped by a two-run triple by left fielder Matt Meyer, who then scored on an error. Meyer, who increased his average to .363, leads the Huskers with eight home runs and 37 RBI.

Missouri followed with two runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the game at 8.

The score remained locked until right fielder Ryan Fry hit a game-winning two-run home run in the bottom of the 12th inning.

Second baseman Corey Miller, who has started in all 25 games, was hit by a pitch for the 19th time in the fourth inning of Sunday's game.

ish last year. Canoyer lost on Thursday and exited the meet Friday morning.

At 126, Jeramie Welder lost two matches on Thursday, both in the "pig-tail" portion of the bracket. He was the first Husker to exit the tournament.

A surprise for Nebraska was 142-pound qualifier Dusty Morris. He won in the pre-tournament "pigtail" brackets, and won again in the first round. Morris lost in the second round of the championship bracket, and again in the consolation rounds, ending his tournament at 2-2.

For two seniors, this was their last shot at a national title. Tony DeAnda ended his career on Friday afternoon, losing in the consolations at 134 pounds.

At 177 pounds, Erik Josephson lost Friday morning in the consolation rounds.

Thompson will work to regain his status as the national champion next year. He won the title in 1994, but lost it in Minneapolis.

"He came back from something I can't describe," Nebraska coach Tim Neumann said of Thompson's third-place performance on Saturday. "I'm sure he was up soul searching all night long."

Thompson wasn't the only one soul searching Friday night. Neumann said he woke up feeling the effects of losing eight matches and four wrestlers from the tournament on Friday.

"I've never known what an anxiety attack was until Saturday morning," Neumann said.

Beck said Doage was what the Huskers needed to erase a 14-point second half deficit and take a one-point lead with 46 seconds remaining in the game.

"I really want to credit LaToya," Beck said. "If that is any indication of what she can do for us next year, I'm looking forward to that."

The Huskers took a 62-61 lead when junior Tina McClain made a layup with 46 seconds remaining. But 15 seconds later, McClain fouled Colorado State senior Teresa James. James made both the basket and free throw to give the Rams a two-point lead.

Nebraska senior Kate Galligan traveled on the next possession, and the Rams made two free throws to ice the game.

terrible start to become the third Nebraska team to make the NIT Final Four, joining the 1983 and 1987 Husker teams.

"I felt like we took Fresno's best shot at the beginning of the game," Nec said. "We calmed down a little bit and then just started playing basketball."

Venson Hamilton scored 12 points, Terrance Badgett contributed 11 points, and Tom Wald added 10 points for Nebraska off the bench.

Erick Strickland scored a team-high 17 points, Jaron Boone 13 and Mikki Moore added 14 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

The four Nebraska seniors who saw action Friday — Wald, Badgett, Boone and Strickland — scored 58 points.

The Bulldogs' lone senior, Brandon Bakke did not score. For the third straight game, Nebraska shot better than 50 percent (51.8 against Fresno State) and scored more than 80 points. All were NIT wins. The Huskers beat Colorado State 91-83 March 14, Washington State 83-71 Tuesday before beating the Bulldogs.

Nec said those outings had brought the return of the team that started 15-4 before collapsing during the Big Eight season.

"It's our old team," Nec said, "the one you saw in December and early January. It's absolutely the old basketball team. We're not living in the past."
