

Litesmall drops duties, heads for hoops

Administrator to help Coach Knee prepare for tough schedule

By Mute Fate
Old man editbore

In a move to shore up his backcourt before the national co-rec basketball tournament, Coach Dan Knee dubbed senior administrator Jo Jo "Air" Litesmell his new shooting guard Sunday.

Litesmell said Sunday morning that she liked her job at NUL and had no intentions of leaving. Sunday afternoon, she told Knee that she would replace Jerry Boned.

Litesmell, a 50-something mathematician, got her first taste of the hardcourt last year in a celebration for the Cornhusler basketball team.

"That little honey's got a hell of a jump shot," Knee said after practices Sunday. "Besides, a blind man could shoot better than Jerry Boned."

Knee said for being a senior administrator, Litesmell could run a 4.3 40-yard dash and had a 70-inch vertical leap. Add that to her towering 6-foot-5-inch frame, he said, and she is a basketball machine.

Litesmell said she "cared a lot" for the university but that this one just

"scomed right." Dejected and angry, Boned called Litesmell a bunch of nasty names as she walked out of the locker room.

"Am not," Litesmell said to a particularly nasty word. "Are too," Boned retorted. "Am not."

Litesmell had been recruited heavily after her departure from the interim chancellor post. Kentucky, UMASSive and UNAD were all reported by some guy at Clift's Lounge as schools looking at Litesmell.

Knee reportedly was able to lure Litesmell to basketball team by sending her packages containing brochures about the university, pamphlets about and little hotel-sized soap. Litesmell collects hotel soap on all her trips with other administrators to universities they don't want to work for.

The NCAA is investigating. But senior NCAA officials didn't expect to find any misdoing. And even if they did, NCAA officials say they don't really care because hotel soap is so small it is essentially useless.

"I hate those little soaps," said one NCAA official. "I always bring my own when I travel."

Litesmell said she is delighted to be on the team and excited to play all the puny teams on the Cornhusler schedule.

"I just love Nebraska."

Chancellor scared and crazy

By Spiral Spaghetti
Booze Editor

Chancellor Jimmy Wheezer announced Sunday night at O'Dorks that he would form 13 search committees to replace 12 of the high-ranking NUL officials who told him they liked Nebraska and had no intention of leaving.

"I've heard that song and dance before," said Wheezer as he gyrated his hips and plunked more change into the jukebox. "Don't think I'll fall for it again."

He was referring to vice chancellor Jo Jo "Air" Litesmell, who resigned to play basketball for Dan Knee hours after saying she liked her job and had no intention of leaving.

The search committees for the University of No-Learning vacancies will be announced soon, Wheezer said.

"I'll announce the committees sometime next week, I think, although I'm not sure who to put on them since so many people have said they like Nebraska," he said. "Do you want to be on one of them? I'll buy you a beer."

By organizing the search committees before the administrators officially accept other positions, Wheezer said he would have plenty of time to throw out those search committees and replace them with

"Don't you worry. I am looking for a new position, and I have every intention of leaving. Although I won't be leaving the bar for a while."

JIMMY WHEEZER
NUL chancellor

new ones.

"Never go with what the first search committee decides — that's my motto," he said. "I don't care if finalists have been chosen and several interviews have already been done."

Wheezer, however, said he would not form a search committee to replace Jimmy Greaser, oil can of student affairs.

"My opinion is, if students have affairs, that's their business," Wheezer said. "I don't think the university should be involved in that process at all."

Wheezer, who took over as NUL chancellor not too long ago, reassured the Daily Harassment that there would be no need for a search committee for his position.

"Don't you worry. I am looking for a new position, and I have every intention of leaving," he said.

"Although I won't be leaving the bar for a while."

When informed that former NUL officials had been accused of using NUL as a springboard to lead a position with a more prestigious school, Wheezer was puzzled.

"I don't understand why you're bringing gymnastics into this," Wheezer said. "Everyone knows that Nebraska is about football, and that doesn't have anything to do with springboards."

The Daily Harassment was not able to contact any of the 13 officials who reported that they liked their jobs in Nebraska and had no intention of leaving.

Many of those officials were reportedly visiting towns that, coincidentally, had large or prestigious universities with vacancies for which the officials had not applied.

HAPPY APRIL FOOL'S DAY

Welcome to the annual April Fool's Day issue of the Daily Harassment. We here at the Daily Harassment have attempted to fill your mundane day here at the University of No-Learning with a little harmless humor and a little relief from that stupid other newspaper -- The Daily Nebraskan.

This is a joke. It is not meant to be taken seriously. If it is taken any other way than a joke, it may be hazardous to your health.

If you can take a joke, read on. If you can't, please take this issue of the Daily Harassment and place it in an appropriate receptacle -- I think you know what we mean.

-- I. Wear Hanes
Editbore

Poverty officials go crazy, give stuff away

By I. Wear Hanes
Senior vice chancellor for the status of men's underwear

The NUL office of Impoverishment and Financial Harm announced all student loan checks for next semester will be distributed sometime before hell freezes over.

But to compensate for the late checks, Director of Poverty Jon Beaten said, the university would be giving students a few perks, including a free $500 added to their checks, textbooks at actual market price, no parking tickets, free meals at the residence halls, and bricks in the Memorial Stadium walkway.

"I'm terribly disappointed about the late checks, but our office and the university administration feel the bigger issue is that students are being charged just too damn much for everything on this campus," Beaten said.

NUL President L. Dennis-Dennis Bo-Bennis Banana-Fana-Fo-Fennis Mc-Mi-Mo-Mennis Dennis Smut said he wants to implement the perk program to the campuses of the University of No-Knowledge and the University of No-Opportunity.

"Tastes like chicken," Smut said. (Actually he said: "We're fighting mad about student costs." But that's a lie)

Upon hearing of the perk program, ANUS president Erotic Magnitizer had a cow. It weighed 30 lbs., 10 oz., but unfortunately had mad-cow disease and had to be destroyed.

"Whoa," Magnitizer said. "That's one hell of a deal for students but not

"Tastes like chicken." (Actually he said: "We're fighting mad about student costs." But that's a lie)

L. DENNIS-DENNIS BO-BENNIS BANANA-FANA-FO-FENNIS ME-MI-MO-MENNIS DENNIS SMUT

NUL President

for my mad cow."

Beaten said the cow looked remarkably a second cousin of his and offered to take care of it. However, Abel Food Services killed it anyway.

"Mad cow burgers for all!" an Abel food service worker told the Daily Harassment — ahh, but I digress.

When state legislators got word of the perk program, they were super-friggin' pissed. Senators have cunningly devised a plan to shift property taxes to NUL students.

"We're gonna give them the shaft," said Sen. Moron from some small town.

Senators want to charge students for everything on campus and eliminate property taxes all together. Almost everything will become coin-operated, including bathroom stalls, toilet-paper dispensers, drinking fountains, classroom chairs — window seats will cost extra.

Students who use anything that isn't coin-operated will be given a ticket by a meter maid. Tickets will be given for entering and exiting buildings, eating, drinking, smelling flowers, sitting on Broybill fountain and anything they can think of.

"Tax. Tax. Tax. Tax. Tax," said Sen. Pompous from Lincoln.

Should students refuse to pay for everything, Senators are hoping the university will shut down and university money can be used for property tax relief.

"None of us have a college education, why should they," said Sen. Idiot from Omaha.

Smut said the perk program might help keep students in school in face of all the additional costs and late loan checks.

"Everybody have fun tonight. Everybody wang chung tonight," Smut said. (Actually he said "The Legislature doesn't understand how expensive a college education really is." But he's not sincere.)

Students who qualify for the perk program can fill pick up an application at the Office of Impoverishment and Financial Harm. There is a $50,000 application fee.

This story is completely untrue.

Daily Harassment

Editor	I. Wear Hanes 472-7211	Nighttime	Sniffin'-Sneezin'-Stuffy Head Snooze Editors
Deranging Editor	Drugged Coma	Many Branded	Anne Hockalugi
Booze Desk Editors	Spiral Spaghetti	Betty Rubble	Rebate Oldmen
Onion Page Erector	Mute Fate	Air Stinkyberg	The Man
Wired Maniac	Dog Pecker	Amy Straightjacket	Lorall
Plagarism Injector	Miracle Maker	Tim Hedonism	476-9211
Snorts Ejector	Dim Person	Don "Flying" Waluski	477-3333
SEX & entertainment	Mister Charmin
Editor	Def Scandal	Professional Acrobat
Voyuers	Travels Hiking
	Biscotti Brewin'
	Clark Kent

FAX NUMBER 555-JOKE

The Daily Harassment is published by the NUL Pub Bored, whose members are chronic bed wetters and must be reached between visits to child psychologists. The DH is published at NUL once a year and in Greece Monday through Friday during the academic year.

Readers are encouraged to shove story ideas up their ass between 9a.m. and 5p.m. Monday through Friday. After 5 p.m., readers can submit story ideas at the Daily Harassment office, which is located in the second stall from the right in the men's restroom in the basement of Morgin's Upstairs. Reader's submitting story ideas after 5 p.m. should come wearing their choice of a chicken costume or a Richard Nixon mask. Also, readers should not be wearing underwear unless deemed medically necessary. Story ideas should be phrased in the form of a question. If story ideas are not phrased in the form of a question, they will be shoved up the reader's ass.

Subscription price is 500,000 drachmas for one year.

ALL MATERIAL COPYRIGHT 1996 DAILY HARASSMENT

Motto: "Where no one knows your name"

<http://www.DH.forget.it>