Fiasco

Continued from Page 12 awaited four-day hiatus.

But upcoming break or no upcoming break, Willis is still dedicated to churning out more rock 'n' roll for his

Before Wednesday's show, he decides that it's time to work on the packaging for his next solo release. So he heads for Alphagraphics, located at 14th and P streets, and a group of about 10 awestruck and amused fans

In the copy shop, Willis settles up against the counter and spreads his notebook before him. As the store's employees work on his order, he tells random stories of life on the road, his latest recordings and his next recording, which he announces will be titled

"Alphagraphics."
"I recorded a 24-song album just yesterday," he says, surveying the *** watchful eyes of the fans who sur-under oath.

"I recorded a 24-song CD in 4 hours. Do you believe me?"

The fans nod, and he turns back to his notebook. Willis reads his latest sickly tune called "Suck a Camel's Booty Hole." In short, it involves bestiality and condiments.

Of course, the teen-agers who surround Willis love it and ask for more. And, of course, Willis obliges them.

When Willis finally leaves the store, about four or five fans stay in hot pursuit. He crosses the street, speaking with a booming voice that would be hard to imagine at a low volume.

"Tonight, I will rock Mudslide Slim's," he says matter-of-factly. "I him. will rock Lincoln, Nebraska.'

He waves at fellow pedestrians and shouts his standard greeting.

"I'm Wesley Willis, pleased to meet 'cha!"

sphere is smokier and louder, but Willis is still the center of attention. He chats with the fans who approach him and tries to sell more of his CDs, as well as some of his artwork from a large plastic sheath.

He doesn't shake hands, but rather asks people for head butts. When fans agree, Willis grabs the backs of their heads, presses their foreheads against his and lets out a celebratory roar.

Soon, he stops talking to the fans and asks for a chair. He sits down and pulls one of the massive works in progress from his sheath. It is a finely detailed cityscape, a crowded expressway with large, thin-lined buses and block-like cars without wheels.

Spreading it across his lap, he goes o work on it with a marker and ball-

Now, the fans just watch.

Meiners spends his pre-show time in a little more traditional way. He sits He holds up an open hand, as if in a booth near the front of the establishment, sipping beer from a longnecked bottle and puffing on a ecently purchased cigar that most people have a hard time understanding," Meiners says.

In addition to his role as lead guitarist and founder of the Wesley Willis batch of polished lyrics, a somewhat Fiasco, Meiners is Willis' roommate, father transferred custody to Meiners. guardian and best friend.

'If people aren't used to dealing with people like Wesley, people who function in a different society, they have a hard time getting along with

"Pretty much every one of my so I've never had a real problem with Willis was diagnosed several years ago with schizophrenia, Meiners says, but his problems go beyond that.

"Obviously, schizophrenia is the worst of his problems, and that's what Some people wave back and others he's medicated for. But there is too simply stare, but everyone notices him. much going on in his head ... he's his dedication to all of the art forms in of reggae, funk and straightforward Inside Mudslide Slim's, the atmo-never had a thorough enough diagnosis to discover everything.

Despite Willis' obvious problems, Meiners says, he has never been a threat to himself or others.

"He never gets violent; he never throws tantrums or anything like that. The only problem we've ever had is that he used to go and check himself into hospitals all of the time when it really wasn't necessary

"The government was paying all his bills, so I spent a lot of time trying get him back out."

If anything, Meiners speaks of grin creeps onto his face whenever the man's name is mentioned.

Meiners met Willis in 1992 in a Chicago art store. Immediately impressed with Willis' work and his outgoing personality, he offered Willis the opportunity to hold an art show in his loft.

Willis, who at the time was living in the housing projects on Chicago's South Side and surviving by selling his drawings on the street, eagerly accepted Meiner's offer and a friendship was formed between the two.

Soon after, Meiners convinced Willis to move in with him and Willis'

Willis always had been an artist, "He lives in a different world, one but he never had worked seriously with poetry. But he soon became interested in the work Meiners did in the recording studio he had in the loft.

"He was pretty slow to get into the rock and just how good the people of music thing," Meiners says. "He didn't Lincoln will have it. think there was any money in it.

'He was making enough money selling his drawings, and it wasn't unfriends functions in a different world, til I recorded some of his songs and gave him some tapes to sell that he got really interested.

about 15 solo albums, one album with the Wesley Willis Fiasco and a handful of split 7-inch singles with other bands.

approach to life.

'He has a real method to his art, and seen," Meiners says.

"He's the hardest-working guy I've point. ever met.'

It's show time in Lincoln, and Wesley Willis is ready to rock.

windows at the bar's front are fogged over from the body heat.

Willis with a sort of reverence. A warm tarist Pat Barnard, bassist Dave Nooks stage's front, about 12 feet above the and drummer Brendan Murphy - are on the stage and waiting. They look over at Willis, who stands by the stage, head down and eyes closed.

When Willis does climb up to the stage, the crowd goes wild. Raised and looks down on the crowd. beer glasses and shouts of "Wesley!" fill the air.

Willis steps up to the microphone and extends his arm, looking out at the notebook clutched in his hand.

'We drove eight hours to get here today," he says to the crowd. "We drove 480 miles to get to Lincoln, Nebraska. Did we drive too far?"

The crowd replies with an enthusiastic "no!"

Willis, still selling his act to those who have already bought, continues with a prologue to the show for almost 10 minutes, telling the crowd just how hard the Wesley Willis Fiasco will

The prologue soon ends, though, and Willis announces the first song, ers stay inside to hear Willis' final "I'm Doing It Well On This Side of the words of the evening. He is asking for

The music starts.

Since then, Willis has recorded reading the lyrics from his notebook, as the rest of the band jumps and mugs shouts. "You cannot kill it!" to the audience with a wide variety of tried-and-true rock god poses.

Willis' massive musical output and sion speed metal band, with splashes come.

which he works are evidence of his rock 'n' roll thrown in for good mea-

Halfway through the set, Willis has he is completely honest with it. His made it to a more spiritual song, "Jesus stuff is some of the best I've ever Is the Answer," and the crowd's energy has almost reached its breaking

The tension soon breaks with a furious burst as the mosh pit is revived in Lincoln with a vengeance. The few crowd members who participate flail Mudslide Slim's is packed and the in front of the stage and bounce off the rest of the crowd.

One of them is boosted up to a The band — Meiners, rhythm gui- support beam that crosses above the floor. He clutches the beam and swings from it, much to the band's delight.

Another fan scales a side wall and positions himself on top of the same beam. He shuffles to the middle of it

The band and the crowd look up at him in anticipation. All except for Willis, who continues his vocal duties without interruption.

When the fan finally does fall into the crowd, the band rejoices and the fans who weren't below his falling body applaud and shout their approval.

Then, after one solid hour of rock 'n' roll bliss, the show ends as it started, with Willis talking to the crowd, this time from the floor.

He offers his thanks and asks the crowd for verification of his earlier promises of satisfaction. The crowd responds positively, surrounding Willis with the same awestruck look as the handful of fans in Alphagraphics had earlier in the evening.

Some fans file out of the club, otha place to stay overnight, thanking the fans repeatedly and telling of his plans Willis stands almost motionless, to go home to Chicago the next day.

Rock 'n' roll will never die!" Willis And as long as there are people like

Wesley Willis around, those words Their sound is like that of a preci-, should ring true for a long time to

Music Reviews

Various Artists "Beautiful Girls" Elektra Grade: B

Under the guidance of Afghan Whigs frontman Greg Dulli, it's hard to imagine how a soundtrack album could go wrong. And the soundtrack for "Beautiful Girls" is no exception.

Dulli has a masterful ear for the soulful sounds of the past, as evidenced by his band's selection of cover tunes (which has ranged from

NOW ON TAP!

Al Green's "Beware" to TLC's "Creep"), and he puts that ear to use in his role as co-executive producer on this album.

The majority of the songs here, as the film's title might indicate, are homages to either a particular woman or women in general.

The highlights include the Afthan Whigs' covers of the Barry White classic "Can't Get Enough of Your Love Babe" and the Harold Melvin and the Blue Notes tune "Be For Real," Chris Issak's take on "Graduation Day" and the surprisingly good effort from Ween on "I'll Miss You."

But no soundtrack - as of late would be complete without a few choice cuts from "back in the day," and this soundtrack is no exception.

Neil Diamond's "Sweet Caroline" is probably the strongest among these. The Diamonds cut, "The Stroll," is an old favorite but seems blatantly out of place here.

The only truly lacking tracks are the title cut by Pete Droge and the Sinners and Roland Gift's turn at That's How Strong My Love Is, which pales in comparison to Otis Redding's version.

Overall, this is a fine album that holds its own in a saturated movie soundtrack market. One could say that it is suitable, and some might say that it is superb. But, actually, it's just beautiful.

Jeff Randall

2137 Cornhusker

- •22 BEERS ON TAP
- GREAT FOOD 10 POOL TABLES 8 DART MACHINES
- ·FOOSBALL

HOURS:Mon - Fri 6 am - 1 am Sat 11 am Sun 1 pm

Ralph's

HUNGRY EYE TATTOO STUDIO

402-477-0279

Safe-Professional-Discreet

closed Sun. & Wed.

12 South 9th Lincoln, NE 68508

n°Cosmetic° i raditiona

CHERRY WHEAT Open 10:00am

Student Summer Employment in Housing May 4 - August 23

APPLY NOW!!!

Custodial....$5.70/hour Building Maintenance....$6.10/hour Building Painter....$6.10/hour

Weekend schedules and occasional overtime available!

Apply in person between 8:00 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. to:

- ·Jerry Lokie at Burr-Fedde Maintenance
- Mike Leupold at Cather-Pound-Neihardt Maintenance
- ·Mike Kansier at Harper-Schramm-Smith Maintenance
- ·LaVern Priest at Selleck Maintenance
- Lyle Harris at Abel-Sandoz Maintenance

For further information, call Central Housing Maintenance, 472-3753.

CLASSIFIED

$3.25 per day for 15 words on individual student and student organization ads.

4.50 per day for 15 words on non-student ads.

5.15 each additional word.

5.75 billing charge.

Personal ads must be prepaid.

Found ads may be submitted free of charge.

DEADLINE: 2:00 p.m. weekday prior to publication.

Writing an effective ad

Be descriptive. The more information you pro-vide the readers, the better your responses will be will be.

Begin the ad with the item for sale or offered.

Include the price of the items for sale.

Highlight the ad with larger type, boldface, art or a box.

Run the ad for at least two days. Make sure the ad reaches the Monday-Wednesday-Friday students and the Tuesday-Thursday students.

For Sale

2 Appliances For Sale

Used washer, dryer, refrigerator or range, delivered, guaranteed and payments of only $25 for three months. That's a deal!" 466-6252.

5 Bicycles For Sale

19" Manitou Hardtail. XTR/XT, Syncros, Ringle, A-Tac, King. $1200 OBO. Nate, 477-4288.

1994 Cannondale M-500. Forrest green. Excellent shape. $500 obo. 438-3044 after 5 p.m.

Cycle Works 27th and Vine has been declared the center of the bicycle universe. Everything for the cyclist with clothing, shoes, accessories, and bikes from Trek, Specialized, KHS, Klein, and Bontrager. Blowout deals on 95 bicycles.

Cycle Works.

27th and Vine, 475-2453.

Used mountain bike. New tires and pedals. $75 or best offer. 436-8915.

16 Computers For Sale

Imagewriter II good condition, $60. Macintosh Plus Com-puter, $100. Macintosh SE Computer, $120. Prices as shown or best offer. Call 472-2578, ask for Kent. 65 Stereos TVs For Sale

Almost new Alpine car stereo, 3 disc changer, equalize and accessories. Call 466-2696 after 5pm. 90 Vehicles For Sale

1976 Volvo Station wagon. Good car for $475, 474-4777

200s Notices

210 Announcements

ALASKA EMPLOYMENT-Fisheries, Parks, Resorts now hiring! Earn to $3,00-$6,00/mol Airfare! Room/Board! FREE VIDEO w/program! State Licensed Service. Call (919)832-1489, ext. A39.

ALASKA SUMMER JOBS Fishing Industry. Earn to $3,000-$6,000+/month + benefits. Male/Female. No experience necessary. (206)971-3510 ext.A57784

CRUISE SHIPS HIRING.

Earn up to $2,000+/month. World travel. Seasonal & full-time positions. No exp. necessary. For info. call 1-206-971-3550 ext. C57782