Fire and...ice?:

Roller hockey, the nation's fastest-growing recreational sport, invaded the Pershing Auditorium last weekend. With more than 500 participants, the North Central United States Regional Roller Hockey Skating Championship Meet proved you don't need ice for a good game of hockey. Page 6

Crime

In custody:

Lincoln Police arrested a Lincoln man on Tuesday on suspicion of killing UNL freshman Martina McMenamin in July 1995. Page 3

A cry for help:

As John Joubert waits for his scheduled date with the electric chair, friends of the convicted child killer struggle desperately to see him live another day. With less than 24 hours before his execution and no stay order in sight, the events of the past week seem fruitless to all but those who attempted to save their friend. Page 5

Community

Sticks and stones:

A camp on East Campus for children who stutter is a reminder that no problem, no matter how great, can keep one from achieving their goals. Page 4

Law of the land:

A symposium to discuss federal Indian gaming regulations leaves some tribes wondering if the government is helping them or hurting them. Page 10
