New businesses add bold flavor to 'blahness' of back-to-school

Things have changed since May, and continue to change. It's the nature of things.

While college students are focused on their studious pursuits, some of these new businesses may be of interest in the off hours. This list isn't all-inclusive, but it's a start.

Got the munchies for Italian food? Fazoli's just opened on Aug. 13, and is located at 46th and Vine Streets. They serve a wide variety of food (breadsticks, pizza, pasta, etc.) in a nice, relaxed atmosphere. They also feature a drive-thru lane, for those hungry people on the move.

Fans of Papa John's pizza may rest a little easier; a second Papa John's location has opened up near 48th and Vine, next to Albertson's.

The N Zone, a new sports bar and grill, has opened up for business at 728 Q St. (next to La Paloma), down in the Haymarket. They've got three big-screen televisions, over a dozen beers on tap and the usual bar-room activities (pool, darts, air hockey, etc.)

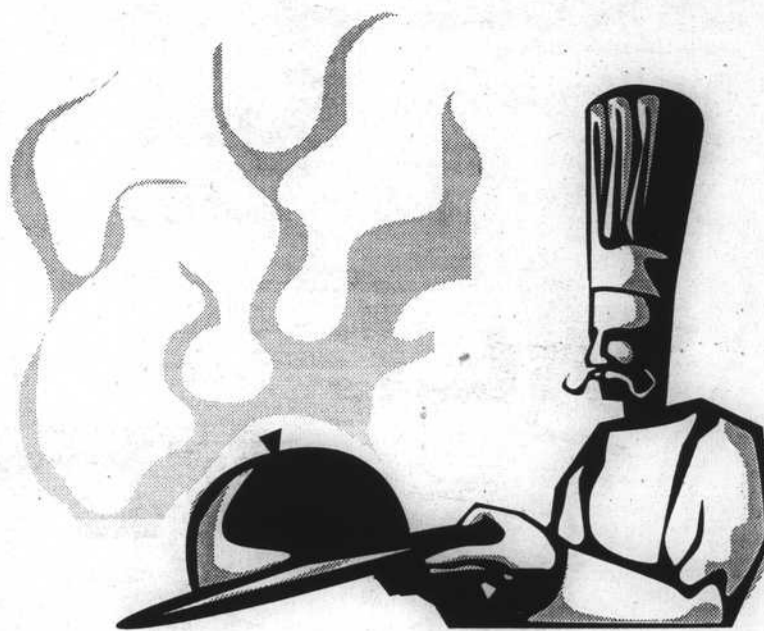

Move over Popeye's and KFC, it's time to go to church. Church's Fried Chicken, that is. Church's used to have a location in Lincoln years ago, down on 27th and Y streets (now occupied by the Golden Wok).

Church's new location is located within T's Fast Stop at 33rd and Holdrege streets.

For those who suffer from the late night munchies, Church's is open until 11 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, and 2 a.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

Coming soon to the downtown area: New York Bagels and Deli, on 13th Street, between P and Q streets; and BW3, a grill and pub at 1328 P St., right next to The Coffee House.
