ASUN plans first meeting, platform goals head agenda

By KASEY KERBER
 Staff Reporter

The Association of Students of the University of Nebraska will hold its first senate meeting of the new semester Wednesday night at 6:30 at the City Campus Union.

The meeting will be a chance to evaluate goals for the upcoming year and will include discussion on past platform goals, ASUN President Eric Marintzer said.

"Most student organizations don't hold a meeting the first week of the semester, but we felt that it would give us a chance to catch up and set goals early," he said.

Goals Marintzer hopes to see accomplished include updating ASUN's official web page, strengthening the Government Liaison Committee and working with Chancellor James Moeser to draft a "student code of ethics."

"Malcolm Kass heads the GLC, and it will be a critical committee this year," Marintzer said.

"It's a budget year for the Nebraska Legislature and GLC is our means to lobby for funds."

Moeser's ethics code will provide a set of values for all students, he said, and ASUN will assist the chancellor by adding input and approving or disapproving of the final draft.

"I think that it's a good goal, especially in this changing society," Marintzer said. "Character is still important."

He said he also hopes to discuss two of his party's main platform goals at Wednesday's meeting — finding a better way to unify student organizations, and making ASUN and its services more visible.

"We hope to increase the awareness of ASUN by getting out and talking to students," Marintzer said. "We want to let students meet their student representatives."

Marintzer had a positive outlook for the beginning of the new year.

"I think the senate is happy to get back," he said. "Maybe not for the classes, but to start things up once again."

VANDALISM

Vulgar, hate-filled graffiti greeted Lincoln Southeast High School students on their first day of classes Monday.

Black spray painted messages marked a new addition at the school, 2930 S. 37th St., Lincoln police Sgt. Ann Heermann said.

The graffiti cursed "rich kids," "skool" and "fascit yuppies," an obvious attempt at the word "fascist."

School officials estimated the damage at $850 for removal.

at a 60-year-old Lincoln man's apartment Monday evening.

At 5:30, a 31-year-old woman entered an apartment on the 1600 block of E Street where Edward Ruark lived, Heermann said.

She acted as if she knew Ruark and his two guests, then grabbed a purse and ran out of the apartment, Heermann said.

Ruark chased her and grabbed her from behind. The woman turned and punched Ruark in the face and threw the purse into the next yard.

When police found her, she was intoxicated and wearing Ruark's Eddie Bauer wrist-watch.

Police arrested the woman, Janella Bell, for assault, larceny and trespassing.

*Offer expires October 11, 1996. No payment of interest or principal will be required for 90 days. Interest accruing during this 90-day period will be added to the principal and will bear interest, which will be included in the repayment schedule. For example, the month of May 1996 had an interest rate of 12.15% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 13.95%. A monthly payment of $32.86 for the Power Mac S260 system is an estimate based on a total loan amount of $1,913.83, which includes a sample purchase price of $1,799 and a 6% loan origination fee. Interest is variable based on the Prime Rate as reported on the 5th business day of the month in The Wall Street Journal, plus a spread of 3.9%. Monthly payment and APR shown assumes deferment of principal and does not include state or local sales tax. The Apple Computer Loan has an 8-year loan term with no prepayment penalty and is subject to credit approval. Monthly payments may vary depending on actual computer system prices, total loan amounts, state and local sales taxes and a change in the monthly variable interest rate. ©1996 Apple Computer, Inc.
