NEW YORK (AP) — Jay Leno says he's at peace with how he and former manager Helen Kushnick parted. Kushnick, who built Leno's career as his manager for 17 years and then jeopardized it, died of cancer in August.

"It was a bad breakup," Leno says in the new issue of TV Guide.

"It had been coming for a long time," Leno said. "I was tired of pretending there wasn't a problem ... Helen was the type when she broke something off that was that."

When both of his parents died Leno said he heard nothing from Kushnick, who knew them both.

"Not even a note," he said. "If she had written, I would have picked up the phone. After that I thought — that's it."

LONDON (AP) — The latest Elvis impersonator is a chip off the old block.

There's the same shoeshine-black cowlick, the same lippy smile, the same long, elegant nose — but this time they're attached to a young woman's body.

Lisa Marie Presley sports her dad's famous ducktail hairstyle in photos splashed across an English newspaper on Sunday, wearing a 1950s-style bikini.

Ten months after her divorce from pop icon Michael Jackson, she told The Sunday Express she is modeling for Gianni Versace and reconciling with first husband, drummer Danny Keough, the father of her son and daughter.

The tribute to her father doesn't extend to some of his excesses. She keeps to a minimalist diet and describes her late father's fashion tastes as "gaudy."

"I mean ... the fur coat when I was 4!" exclaims Presley, now 28. "In the heat of Memphis!"

NEW YORK (AP) — Madonna had nightmares that endless dancing during the making of "Evita" was going to hurt her unborn baby.

The singer-actress summoned a doctor to have the fetal heartbeat checked in the middle of an arduous dance sequence that she had repeated at least 15 times in 36 hours, she says in the October issue of Vogue.

"OK, I didn't kill it," she recalled thinking after the test. "I can go back to the set now."

Pregnancy took its toll. Madonna complained of feeling exhausted throughout the production and had to use furs, purses and other props to camouflage her swelling tummy.

She also told Vogue she thought ex-husband Sean Penn got married last spring as "some sort of knee-jerk response to me, if you must know. When it was revealed that I was pregnant. My reaction was, this is Sean trying to be dramatic."

NEW YORK (AP) — She's barely into the new season as Murphy Brown's new boss, yet actress Lily Tomlin is already being considered for her own series.

"I have made an arrangement with CBS to look into the possibility," Tomlin, 57, told Liz Smith in an interview published in next week's TV Guide. "But I don't know where that will lead me."

For now, Tomlin's focused on her "Murphy Brown" role.

"If I seem nervous, it's only because the show is a favorite of so many people. It's a classic," she said. "There's a lot of expectation. You know, they want me to come in here and just have a load of fun with Murphy. Really zap her."

As for her own character, Tomlin said, "I have in mind some stuff for her. I think they want me to maybe start up something with Redfield. You know, Miller Redfield, the good-looking, vacuous guy played by Christopher Rich? We'll probably get into some sexual harassment."
