Democrat to leave Gingrich inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House ethics committee's ranking Democrat said Tuesday he was removing himself from the investigation of Speaker Newt Gingrich.

Rep. Jim McDermott, D-Wash., bowed to criticism of his role in the handling of a taped phone call involving the House leader.

McDermott said he would step aside "as a matter of conscience." His announcement came less than a week before the panel was to vote on penalties for Gingrich's violation of House rules.

Also Tuesday, the FBI opened an investigation into whether federal criminal law was broken in the taping and dissemination of the Gingrich telephone call.

In a written statement, McDermott said he would leave as soon as Republicans restored the political balance on the committee. They could do so by removing a GOP member — presumably newly appointed Lamar Smith of Texas — leaving four members from each party.

McDermott said Gingrich violated his agreement not to orchestrate a response to the ethics violations, apparently referring to the intercepted phone call of Gingrich and other Republicans that he sent to the committee's office.

McDermott said the tape showed evidence of the breach. But committee chairwoman Nancy Johnson, R-Conn., refused to accept the recording from McDermott and delivered it instead to the criminal division of the Justice Department.

Israeli withdrawal agreement signed

EREZ CROSSING, Israel (AP) — Israeli and Palestinian negotiators signed a long-awaited agreement on Israel's long-delayed pull-out from Hebron and parts of the West Bank Wednesday.

The signing ended a dangerous impasse in Middle East peacemaking. It followed an early morning summit between Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu and Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat at an Israel-Gaza border crossing. Their chief negotiators — Dan Shomron and Saeb Erekat — signed the final accord, Netanyahu spokesman Dan Shomron said.

The agreement lays out "a pathway of greater hope and possibility for peace in the Middle East as a whole," said U.S. envoy Dennis Ross, who pushed for the accord in four months of tortuous negotiations.

Authorities did not immediately release details of the accord. But according to reports and information provided by officials previously, Israel is to give the Palestinians control of 80 percent of the Biblical city of Hebron within days. Israel has furthermore committed to roll back its presence in the West Bank in three stages — beginning in six weeks and ending in August 1998.

It is the first concrete step in the peace process since Netanyahu's hard-line government took office in June, pledging to slow down the handover of land to the Palestinians.

Tensions between the two sides have risen sharply as the stalemate in their relations lengthened. In September, Palestinian frustration sparked clashes with Israel in which 79 people died.

But Wednesday's agreement sets the stage for future conflict by leaving as many questions as it answers — most notably the scope of the planned Israeli withdrawals. The Palestinians hope to gain control of most of the West Bank, but Netanyahu by some reports plans to give up as little as one-third of the territory.

Netanyahu spokesman Shai Bazak said Netanyahu would take the deal later Wednesday to his Cabinet — where about half the ministers have said they are against it or undecided. Arafat is expected to encounter less opposition when his cabinet considers the accord.

Impeachment for Yeltsin considered

MOSCOW (AP) — Calls for Boris Yeltsin's impeachment are coming from the Russian president's political opponents because of his ill health.

However, Yeltsin's doctors say they expect the president to make a full recovery from his bout of pneumonia. Yeltsin would be certain to resist any moves against him by the Communist-dominated Duma or lower house of Parliament.

Previous attempts to remove Yeltsin have failed and the latest moves appeared to have little support. Yeltsin remained hospitalized for a seventh day Tuesday with double pneumonia.

Duma speaker Gennady Seleznyov said a draft document on impeaching Yeltsin for health reasons has been submitted to the legal section of the Duma, the interfax news agency reported.

He acknowledged that any impeachment attempt would be a long, cumbersome process, but said there could be a debate
