

ARREST

The wet and slick snow that blanketed Lincoln Monday night helped police track down a man indecently exposing himself Tuesday morning.

"Who says the snow can't be our ally?" Lincoln Police Sgt. Ann Heermann said.

At 2:35 a.m., a woman at 2221 N. 32nd St. heard a knock at her door. She asked who it was and received no answer.

When she went to the window to see who it was, she saw a man masturbating on her doorstep. The man left the doorstep, heading south.

Using the man's description — and his foot tracks in the snow — officers were able to track the man to his home at 3133 Dudley St.

Jeremiah King, 20, was arrested and booked into jail.

NARCOTICS

A man hiding in a closet was arrested Monday night for possession of marijuana when police were called to his house on a drug sale complaint.

When police came into 3032½ N St., they found Jane Fritz, 27, in possession of 3.71 grams of methamphetamine. She was arrested for possession of a controlled substance. After searching the house, they found 26-year-old Christopher Ryan hiding in the closet.

Ryan had 35 grams of marijuana in his possession, and an outstanding warrant for delivery and possession of a controlled substance.

Communications service has more time per dime

Long-distance phone service for 10 cents a minute ... but there's a catch: it all depends on where you live.

VarTec Telecommunications is now offering its "DimeLine" service to Lincoln residents.

To receive the special dime rate on long-distance calls, customers have to dial 10811 before dialing the long-distance number they are calling.

VarTec charges a $5-a-month service charge per line on top of the 10 cents a minute, and customers will be billed separately for the service.

The company is able to offer long-distance service at such a discounted rate because it buys large blocks of service from other companies at a bulk rate, and then sells the time to its customers.

Unlike other similar offers recently advertised in Lincoln, the DimeLine should work for Aliant Communications customers, Lela Kelliher, Aliant spokesman, said.

However, students living on campus at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln won't be able to take advantage of the discount. Because students have to dial nine for an outside line, the DimeLine prefix won't work.

"Whenever you have to dial nine you may be required to use a certain carrier," said Marla Rackley, VarTec Special Products operator.

"As long as you don't have to dial anything for an outside line, the DimeLine should work."

VarTec sent out advertisements for the DimeLine to Lincoln residents two weeks ago. The mailing was also sent to the campus residence halls and greek houses, where the code does not work.

Because VarTec mails out its advertisements in bulk, it did not realize fliers were sent to UNL, Rackley said.

"We just mail them out to everyone in a certain zip code."

Although the long-distance offer will not work for on-campus students, VarTec does offer some other services designed especially for college students.

They offer a varsity card, which is a special calling card for dialing only a single phone number.

With a flat monthly service charge of $1.95, VarTec can guarantee a $.15-a-minute rate for all calls placed to one designated number.

"The Varsity card helps prevent students from having to call home collect," Rackley said.
