

Law & Order

VANDALISM

A man found three bullet holes in his car and a window broken after hearing shots fired outside his house Monday night at 1020 Washington St.

Andre Tarter told police he heard four shots fired in an alley behind his house. He looked outside, but did not see anything.

When he came out two days later to start his car, he found the bullet holes — two in the passenger door, one in the bumper — and a broken passenger-side window. In the alley, he found four 9 mm shell casings.

Damage was estimated at $200.

VANDALISM

Gang-related graffiti was found Wednesday spray painted on the west wall of Lincoln Southeast High School, 2635 S. 63rd St.

School officials reported that the graffiti was painted sometime between 3 p.m. Tuesday and 9 a.m. Wednesday. Vandals painted "CMG 4 Life" and "BD Killer."

There was a gang-related fight inside the school before the graffiti incident, officials told police, and several students will be expelled as a result.

Aid-in-Dying bill debated

DYING from page 1

my knowledge, God has never amended this commandment."

But just sustaining life isn't a good reason not to pass the bill, some proponents said.

Carl Schmitthausler, president of Hemlock Nebraska, said quality of life was important even if medication could soothe the pain.

"We question the quality of life of the person who has to be tied in bed and chair, toilet and sedated, who has no opportunity to recognize friends and loved ones," Schmitthausler said.

"The dying person has every right to say, 'Enough, enough, I don't want to endure this anymore,'" he said. "Pain is one of the variables, but by no means the only one."

Matt LeMieux, director of the Nebraska American Civil Liberties Union, said those opposed should simply not exercise that right and let others choose for themselves. He said the practice was being performed, and needed regulations.

Murray Schmechel, a United Methodist clergyman, said he must counsel people who struggle with assisted-death decisions. One woman, he said, withheld medication so her husband could die after a long bout with Alzheimer's.

"I need those people whom I counsel to have that freedom," he said. "... we need to have that ability to make a choice, regardless of where you come down on a religious perspective."

"I celebrate a God in my life who is a God of life and is also the God of death, who says that death is not the final chapter."

LANE HICKENBOTTOM/DN

NAVY LT. ERIC PRICE stands Thursday morning in front of an F-18 Hornet in a Duncan Aviation hangar at Lincoln Municipal Airport. Price graduated from UNL in 1989.

Fighter jet rests in Lincoln; students inspired by sight

By JIM GOODWIN
Staff Reporter

The war hawk has landed in Lincoln.

At least, a neutered version of an F-18 fighter jet rested Wednesday in a hangar at Lincoln Municipal Airport. Fully-armed models were used in the Persian Gulf War and Bosnia.

But this unarmed, two-seater trainer — which can fly at 1½-times the speed of sound — arrived Tuesday for a two-day layover. The mission was to give Navy Lt. Aaron Keenan of U.S. Airbase Lemore a break from his two-hour training flight from southern California.

The opportunity also afforded University of Nebraska-Lincoln ROTC students a peek at the machine they may be piloting someday, and gave 1989 UNL graduate Lt. Eric Price a speedy return visit to Lincoln.

"Coming to Lincoln was good (public relations) for us," said Price, who supervised Keenan on the flight. "It puts a face to a name. These students hear about the plane. Now they can say they've seen it."

Kent Leonard, an ROTC cadet, said the sight was motivation. Leonard anticipates taking basic training in the Navy after graduation.

"The earliest I'll be able to fly an F-18 is in two years," Leonard said. "If I have my choice of models, though, it'll be this one."

Price said he and Keenan would return to the wild blue yonder this morning.

"They don't like their birds too far from home," Price said.

UNL World Campus '97 Summer Study Abroad

France

European Agribusiness: May 12-27
European agribusiness in France, trade policies of the European Economic Community, and contrast them with current practices in the United States.

Prof. George Pfeiffer AGRI 310/3 credits

Mexico

Family and Community Resources in Mexico: May 17-31 Discuss family support programs, the economy, trade and border issues through on-site visits in Juarez, Mexico City, Puebla and Oaxaca. Examine psychosocial and economic environments for families and communities.

Prof. Shirley Baugher FACS 896/3 credits

Mexico

Spanish in Monterrey or Querétaro: June 11-July 20 Study intensive Spanish at the ITESM, a premier university in Mexico at any level from beginning to advanced. Family stays or dormitory. Option to include Business in Mexico, taught in English. SPAN/3-6 credits

Turkey

Historical Influence in Modern Turkey: May 19-June 6 Turkey has been home to early Middle Eastern civilizations, including the Romans and Greeks as well as the Ottoman empire and its legacies. Visit Istanbul, Ankara, Izmir and Bursa, where history stands alongside and influences modern society. This is a course in modern Turkish and Middle Eastern History.

Prof. Necati Sozuoz HIST 298/3 credits

Pan-Pacific

Malaysia, Hong Kong, and Singapore Entrepreneurship and Economic Development. Attend the Global Conference on Creative Entrepreneurship and the Pan-Pacific Conference. Interact with scholars, business leaders and students.

Profs. Robin Anderson and Ron Hampton MRKT 399 or MGMT 398/3 credits

United Kingdom

Nebraska at Oxford—Study political and international economics or arts and literature with Oxford professors. Visit Stonehenge, Bath and Stratford-on-Avon.

ECON or ART/6 credits

Australia

Educator Exchange: July 12-Aug 2 Learn about the Australian holistic approach to education on this exchange. Live with educator families and teach in Australian schools, participate in seminars and visit exemplary schools. Open to teachers, administrators and education students.

Prof. Al Seagren EDAD 990A/3 credits

Scandinavia

Family and Education Experiences: May 12-30 Culturally immerse yourself in the family and educational institutions in Sweden and Finland. Homestays and site visits are planned to understand the educational system, family support outreach, cultural differences in contrast to the U.S. and modern life in each country.

Profs. Herb Lingren and Julie Johnson FACS 396 or 896/3 credits

Italy

Color Woodcut Printmaking in Florence: June 30-July 25 Contemporary methods in woodcut printmaking. Technical and conceptual projects are demonstrated and discussed. Intensive studio time balanced with field trips for inspiration and study into print archives, museums in Florence and other historical cities.

Prof. Karen Kunc ART/PRNT 241, 242, 341, 343, 441, or 442 + graduate levels/3 credits

China

International Business in Beijing: May 12-27 Broaden your perspective on culture, political systems, economic and business practices in China. Study the importance of the People's Republic of China in the global market. Itinerary includes Beijing, Xi'an and Shanghai.

Profs. Kung Chen and Wanru Su GRBA 896 or ACCT 399 or MRKT 399/3 credits

Czech Republic

Czech Language and Culture in Pizen (Pilsen): July 5-27 Study the Czech or Russian language or participate in a Czech history and culture course taught in English at the University of West Bohemia in Pizen. You will also have the opportunity for excursions to Prague and other places of historic and cultural interest.

For more information, contact International Affairs:
<http://www.iaffairs.unl.edu> • 472-5358 • 1237 'R' Street

Swobs.
Thanks for being my "support". You are always there when I need you! HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY!
Sum

Terra.
A birthday on a day like today should be a great day at least a few times in your life. May it be great and may you enjoy the beginning of a new period of life—the end of being a teenager...
Another piece of land

Texas Wildcat.
It's our last Valentine's Day in different states and with different names. See you in March.
Your Nebraska Kitten

To all the Women of Christian Challenge,
Happy Valentine's Day.
Love your brothers

To all,
Valentine's Day is here again... Just remember this day is not a day to remorse over whether or not you have a Valentine, but to remember all those that make you smile and love you back! Be Happy! HAPPY VALENTINE'S DAY!!!!

To Cutie
Wouldn't it be nice if... Wait, we are older! Thanks for the last three years.
With love, Mr. Right

To Duff:
I love you!
From Dilly

To My Cowboy,
I think I've finally decided, "I LOVE YOU!"
Your Country Girl

To my darling cutie-pie boy:
I will always love you, even more than cheese. Your nummy-muffin snugglebunny. I can't believe I just called myself that.

To My Dirty Turkey,
I've had a wonderful year with you, looking forward to many more! I love you very much!
Love Captain Crabby

To our AZD sweethearts,
Couldn't think of anyone better to be our Valentine's! Love ya, Room 11 The Barn

To: JY
My life has been changed dramatically since I met you last year. You will be the only and the last lover in my life. Whenever, wherever I meet you, I want to say to you, "I love you."
Dennis G.

Twin:
Love is a man who knows how to reiterate, drives a Pathfinder, makes dinner for you on a weekly basis and does your laundry... It'd be easier if there weren't so many...
Shortcake

Victoria:
Since I met you in 350, the last three years have been unforgettable. Being with you couldn't be better. Happy Valentine's Day, with lots of love,
Dave

Wendy
You have made me the happiest man alive. Happy Valentine's Day. I will love you always and forever.
Ryan

Wee-
Happy Anniversary! Happy Valentine's Day! I love you! Love, Your Snickerdoodle

To R.P.:
Beyond words, beyond love, beyond anything... I love you & I'll always be your precious moment.
Love - Lib

TO ROBERT, MY BROTHER, MY BEST FRIEND, AND MY LOVER. HAPPY VALENTINE'S!
LOVE, ELLEN

To Rose
Thanks for being here kitten. Love you much. Happy Valentine's Day
Matt

To Stevie, my love:
Think about Billy Joel and pep rallies and remember me even though we are so far apart.
Love, Jessica

To the men of Theta Xi,
Have a good Valentine's Day. Feed the fish.
Love Nicol

To the U Street Hood Rats:
So you're poor, broke and lonely. At least your teams are ranked ahead of mine. Happy V-Day, yo, and I ain't mad atcha.
J-Rock

To: JY
My life has been changed dramatically since I met you last year. You will be the only and the last lover in my life. Whenever, wherever I meet you, I want to say to you, "I love you."
Dennis G.

Twin:
Love is a man who knows how to reiterate, drives a Pathfinder, makes dinner for you on a weekly basis and does your laundry... It'd be easier if there weren't so many...
Shortcake

Victoria:
Since I met you in 350, the last three years have been unforgettable. Being with you couldn't be better. Happy Valentine's Day, with lots of love,
Dave

Wendy
You have made me the happiest man alive. Happy Valentine's Day. I will love you always and forever.
Ryan

Wee-
Happy Anniversary! Happy Valentine's Day! I love you! Love, Your Snickerdoodle

Wild, part one:
On this Hallmark Holiday, may you have sweet dreams of Jimmy Cliff and all the Hot Boxes of the world... thanks for keeping me sane, love child.
Wild, part two