Schwartz, who all received considerable playing time last season.

Sanderford should be inheriting a talented class that besides the four sophomores also has Honorable Mention All American Anna DeForge returning for her senior season along with post player Emily Thompson and forward Jami Kubik.

Gilmore said the players are slowly getting over the shock and disappointment from learning assistant coach Theresa Becker would not be given the position. The players had said after Beck left that they supported Becker for the position.

"We were really upset about it at first but she just told us that we had to look at the thing from a positive aspect," Gilmore said.

Gilmore said they are now starting to look forward to working with Sanderford, who is the winningest coach in Western Kentucky history. Sanderford had been Western Kentucky's coach for 15 years and led the Hilltoppers to 12 NCAA Tournament appearances in the last 13 seasons. This season

Western Kentucky qualified for its 14th straight postseason tournament and lost to Arizona in the first round of the NCAA's.

Sanderford's biggest success at WKU came in 1992 when he led the Hilltoppers to the NCAA Championship game before losing to Stanford. The Hilltoppers have advanced to the Final Four three different times under Sanderford, who has compiled a 365-120 overall record at Bowling Green, Ken.

"From what I understand he's pretty cool," Gilmore said.

'Speed 2' can't keep pace with series' first film

on a Caribbean cruise to discuss their future.

You can guess the kind of luck they have; terrorist Geiger (Willem Dafoe) takes over the ship's computer systems, sets up explosive charges all over the ship and forces an evacuation.

Will our heroes put up with this? No way! They stay on board and fight it out, along with protecting a stranded group of passengers and a somewhat inept group of crew members (who redeem themselves as the movie progresses).

We eventually find out Geiger isn't just crazy (what was the first clue?), but is also dying, though he has slowed the process by attaching lawyers (I mean leeches) to his body for short periods of time. He designed all the computer systems for the ship, but was let go from the company when his medical condition was discovered. He's here for his pound of flesh (and a robbery, which doesn't really make sense if he's dying).

The characters here are cardboard at best, and the bland setting of the cruise ship doesn't help. Even

The Facts
The Facts
Title: "Speed 2: Cruise Control"
Stars: Jason Patric, Sandra Bullock, Willem Dafoe
Director: Jan De Bont
Rating: PG-13 (language, violence)
Grade: D-
Five Words: Let this film die quickly

Dafoe, who usually plays a great bad guy, looks like he'd rather be anywhere else. Bullock is of particular waste here, acting simply as a vehicle to deliver most of the same lines she had in the first film. Oh, but this time they're funny! Oh... I get it. Ha ha ha ha, that's so silly. Oh, those scriptwriters! What hams they are!

There's no originality to this film; no punch or new life. It's just a standard "maniac-versus-cop" plot, which happens to be on a ship. Beyond the opening action scene, this flick is barely worth a rental price, let alone paying to see it on the big screen.

Better to kiss a drunk platypus than to waste your money on "Speed 2: Cruise Control."
