Pepsi to aid snack bars

By SARAH BAKER
Assignment Reporter

Imagine a convenience store or a sandwich shop next door to the residence halls.

Both of these are possibilities for the University of Nebraska-Lincoln to try to increase student interest in residence hall snack bars.

Ron Burke, UNL director of food service and food stores, said Pepsi gave the snack bars more than $100,000 as part of the beverage contract, most of which will go for remodeling and new equipment.

"Pepsi is going to help us merchandise the snack bars," Burke said. Ellen Hardy, buyer for the university food stores, said the low student interest was due to a combination of many factors.

"I am not positive there is any one reason for the decline in student interest," Hardy said. "It may be due to the fact that students have easier means of transportation, and can go anywhere off campus they want to eat."

University Housing is concentrating on the snack bars in Abel Residence Hall and Harper Residence Hall because they are used most frequently. Burke said they were considering many options.

"We have discussed a convenience store at Harper, and we have also talked about some type of sub shop, like a Blimpie's, for instance, in the halls," Burke said.

Steve Ford, a representative from Pepsi, said whatever kind of establishment goes in will sell Pepsi products.

"We would establish some kind of deal with the vendor through their contract," Ford said. "Pepsi would provide the company with the same support as far as marketing, and other support as their previous beverage supplier had."

Ford said Pepsi would be involved with coming up with ideas for the future renovations.

"We will be involved with deciding what types of equipment will be installed, and we may involve students in the decisions, based on what they want in a snack bar."

Ford said Pepsi is considering selling six-packs or two-liter bottles of soda in the snack bars if there is student interest.

Housing director Doug Zatechka said he thought these changes would make a difference in the student interest.

Burke will be meeting with Pepsi representatives Friday to discuss plans for improvements.

"These changes are definitely worth a try," Zatechka said. "I really hope they work."

Burke said initially food services thought the sales at snack bars were down because only Pepsi beverages were sold, but the latest figures show sales are about even with previous years.

"We took into consideration the fact that the snack bars opened two days late in the first week of the semester, and that Selleck has shorter business hours," Burke said. "There is no appreciable difference in the figures."

CORRECTION

A headline in Wednesday's edition of the Daily Nebraskan regarding the Tuesday sentencing of Latif al-Hussani and Majed al-Timimy was incorrect. The two men were convicted of first-degree sexual assault of a minor.
