THIS YEAR A LOT OF COLLEGE SENIORS WILL BE GRADUATING INTO DEBT.

Under the Army's Loan Repayment program, you could get out from under with a three-year enlistment.

Each year you serve on active duty reduces your indebtedness by one-third or $1,500, whichever amount is greater, up to a $65,000 limit. The offer applies to Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans, and certain other federally insured loans, which are not in default. And debt relief is just one of the many benefits you'll earn from the Army. # Marching band plays Lied

BY JULIE ABRAHAMSON
Staff Reporter

Saturday will be the public's last chance to catch the Cornhusker Marching Band perform before it ventures to Miami Jan. 2 for the Orange Bowl. The band will perform at the Lied Center for Performing Arts, 301 N. 12th St., Saturday at 8 p.m.

Director Rod Chesnutt said the concert will include all the music the band performed this past season.

"The concert allows students to focus on what they've accomplished this fall," Chesnutt said.

and concerts, the Cornhusker Marching Band, which is funded by the UNL Athletic Department, participates in activities like fund raisers and alumni events.

"On top of that, most students play in pep bands for the volleyball and basketball teams," Chesnutt said.

The band will perform next Dec. 31 in the Orange Bowl Parade, which will be televised on CBS at 7 p.m.

On Jan. 1, the band also will perform at the pep rally during pre-game and halftime festivities at Northern Miami-Dade Community College.

For avid fans who cannot get enough of the band, their compact disc, "Live from the Lied 1996," is available through the band office for $15. Saturday's performance also will be recorded.

Blues guitarist dishes with deli

BY SEAN MCCARTHY
Assignment Reporter

The blues and M&N Sandwich Shop will get a little closer this weekend when local blues guitarist Sean Benjamin performs a special supper show Saturday night.

The Chicago-style deli, 2643 Randolph St., has forged a strong allegiance with the Lincoln blues community since it opened. The shop's walls are decorated with autographs of blues artists who have frequented the sandwich shop.

Norm Kusinski, owner of M&N, said he hoped to attract new customers with the open-stage performance. He also hoped to attract blues fans who may not be able to get into the downtown bars.

"This was originally a family type store, so for people who don't drink, when something like this comes up, it's really nice," he said.

Kusinski said he hoped to attract additional musicians for more nighttime performances that he'll schedule around football games, the availability of the artist and, of course, the schedule of the Zoo Bar.

Benjamin is set to play from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. The blues great has opened for Jerry Lee Lewis, the Everly Brothers and Bo Diddley.

Larry Boehmer, owner of the Zoo Bar, says Benjamin is a guitarist who "can hang with the very best." Benjamin's latest compact disc, "Delta Blue Coffee," is available on Palace Records.

Though Benjamin's favorite dishes at M&N are either the Italian beef pastrami sandwich or the pastrami burger, Kusinski said he'll have something for everyone when Benjamin performs.

"Our menu is as varied as his music. It's all good."
