Man arrested for DUI

A Lincoln man was arrested for driving under the influence Thursday night after three hit-and-run accidents along Cornhusker Highway.

Police arrested 46-year-old James Higgins after he ran into a moving train that ended the string of wrecks shortly before 10 p.m., Heermann said.

Higgins hit three other cars as he drove down Cornhusker Highway from 28th Street to the train crossing near 35th and Adams streets, causing minor damage to the other cars and his own.

By the time he reached the train crossing where another vehicle was already stopped for the train, Higgins' right front tire had blown out and was dragging from the axle of his 1982 Mazda RX-7.

Higgins drove around the car stopped at the crossing, hitting it as he passed.

Then Higgins drove around the lowered warning arm and into the moving train.

Higgins' car was totaled, but no one was injured in any of the accidents.

Gambling operation busted

Police broke up a small gambling operation in Lincoln Thursday night.

When police served a search warrant at a house on the 1200 block of North 26th Street, they found five men gathered around a craps table with cash in hand, Lincoln Police Sgt. Ann Heermann said.

Police seized $229 cash, 40 decks of cards, 10 dice, a craps table and several poker tables.

Two men, Otis Moore, 55, and Wardell Moore, 53, were arrested on second-degree charges of promoting gambling.

The three other men were cited for engaging in gambling. Rodney Gregory, 24, Thomas LaRose, 51, and Girlie Hughes, 59, were all cited.

All of the men, except Gregory, are from Lincoln. Gregory is from Omaha.

Man cited for domestic assault

One woman's drunken boyfriend allegedly took a cinder block to her car Thursday night during a domestic dispute.

The woman arrived home, on the 1500 block of South 22nd Street, with her 9-year-old daughter shortly after 5 p.m. She found her live-in boyfriend, Anthony Tyndall, 39, drunk, Heermann said.

When Tyndall refused to leave, the woman decided to take her daughter away from the house.

But when the woman and her daughter got into the car to leave, Tyndall grabbed a cinder block and started smashing the car.

The woman and her daughter fled through the alley while Tyndall continued smashing the car.

Police arrested Tyndall for assault.
