

THE YEAR IN PICTURES

RICK TOWNLEY/DN
RIGHT: WHEN I WALKED in the door at Christ Temple Mission church, that stained-glass window jumped out at me. I knew I had my photo; I just had to wait for the actors to take the stage. It was one of the few times that I had a preconceived idea and it turned out as good as I hoped.

RYAN SODERLIN/DN
WHAT CAN I SAY, I got a little lucky on this one. It's not too often when you accidentally catch somebody else's flash in your picture. The flash in the picture creates a sense of drama and excitement, which helped to catch the essence of the rodeo.
