Injuries hurt NU's play in 1998 season

to the last play of the game, but Missouri failed to score.

The ghosts of Texas haunted No. 7 Nebraska again on Halloween as the Longhorns upset the Huskers 20-16, ending a 47-game home winning streak.

After losing to Texas, NU responded with a 42-7 victory over Iowa State in snowy conditions in Ames, Iowa. Dan Alexander, in his first start at 1-back, rumbled for 110 yards and three touchdowns.

Joe Walker returned an interception

65 yards for a touchdown, which gave him touchdown returns on the season in three categories (punt, kick-off, interception) to tie an NCAA record held by six others.

NU had a week off to prepare for top-ranked Kansas State in Manhattan, Kan. The Huskers put together one of their best performances of the year, but Kansas State quarterback Michael Bishop was too much as the Wildcats defeated NU for the first time in 29 years with a 40-30 victory.

In the regular season finale, NU failed to score an offensive touchdown, but still defeated Colorado 16-14.

After finishing 9-3 in the regular season, the Huskers accepted a bid to play Arizona in the Holiday Bowl.

The Huskers led 13-9 at halftime and 20-16 midway through the fourth quarter before Arizona rallied to win 23-20.

After the loss, many Huskers were happy to see it end.

And they are looking forward to a new start in 1999-2000.

"This is a one-year thing," NU cornerback Ralph Brown said. "You can put that on me."
