

Daily Nebraskan

Summer Edition

MONDAY, JUNE 7, 1999

VOL. 98, No. 153

Jazz Hot Jazz

Weekly music event ushers in summer months

BY JASON HARDY
Senior editor

Since its construction, the area west of the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery has played host to a number of different artistic expressions, many as hand-crafted extensions of a creator's emotions.

Be it the peculiar balance of an iron statement or the chunky cut of a statue's profile, expression is a constant in the sculpture garden surrounding the Sheldon Memorial Art Gallery and last Tuesday night was no different, except this time the form of expression resonated as a series of blue notes out of a brass saxophone.

This time it was Jazz.

By 6 p.m. on Tuesday June 6, a number of people had already staked a claim to a section of grass or sidewalk near the west steps of the Sheldon. They were there and they were ready. Armed with blankets, lawn chairs, sandwiches and sodas a crowd of a few hundred people chit-chatted and relaxed in a cool June evening. By 7 p.m. the number had grown considerably and the Nebraska Jazz Orchestra kicked off the

Please see JAZZ on 6

INSIDE:

SUMMER ENTERTAINMENT PREVIEW

The best movies and the best music is on display in the Daily Nebraskan summer entertainment preview. Check out the flicks we think are must-see and summer's album and concerts you'll want to hear. Also, Episode I of Mark Baldrige's How I Spent My Summer Vacation. PAGES 2-5

