

and stoop shouldered. His features are rugged, his brow is marked with deep lines of thought, and his face with the lines of physical suffering. He is a type of the men who have suffered and spent all their strength in the pursuit of knowledge. Dr. Von Holst has been called dogmatic, but it is the dogmatism of a man who knows.

It is hoped that the Chancellor's efforts to secure the best of everything for the University will meet with equal success in the future.

After Dr. Von Holst had finished, the various degrees and commissions were presented to the students amid strains of music from the University orchestra, the assembly dispersed and in the halls the Juniors of '93 attempted to simulate the dignity which will belong to them as Seniors of '94, while the Seniors departed to enter the ranks of the alumni with feasting and gaiety.

ALUMNI BANQUET.

The class of '93 of the State University was welcomed into the ranks of the alumni yesterday afternoon with music and feasting.

Directly after the Commencement exercises, the members of the alumni association and their guests repaired to the Grant Memorial hall on the University campus. Until 2 o'clock an informal reception was held in the gallery, where new acquaintances were formed and old ones renewed.

At 2 p. m., to the music of the University orchestra, the alumni marched down and took their seats at the long rows of tables. They were followed by the Seniors, whose approach was greeted with applause.

From this time until 5:20, gaiety and good cheer were the order of the day. After the regular banquet, which was fully equal to the expectations of the most critical, an informal toast program was announced by Mr. Will O. Jones, the toastmaster. The responses were as follows:

The University, Chancellor Canfield.
The Early Classes, A. W. Field.

Class of '78, H. H. Wilson.
Class of '79, Prof. C. N. Little.
Class of '80, Prof. H. W. Caldwell.
Class of '81, Prof. Lawrence Fossler.
Class of '82, Mrs. A. W. Field.
Class of '85, Dr. A. G. Warner.
Class of '87, Paul F. Ciark.
Class of '88, O. B. Polk.
Class of '89, T. S. Allen.
Class of '90, H. C. Peterson.
Class of '91, Miss Schwab.
Class of '92, Miss Pound.
Class of '93, Emory Hardy.

It was expected that Dr. Von Holst would respond to one of the toasts, but much to the regret of all present, it was necessary for the eminent historian to leave early in the afternoon. The responses made were of the usual nature, compounded of good feeling and class history. They were much enjoyed, and most of them were vigorously applauded.

The meeting was considered by all as one of the most enjoyable ever held. Great preparations were made and the most successful results realized.

THE REGENT'S MEETING.

The annual meeting of the board of Regents was held June 7th and 8th. Important business was transacted regarding departments of instruction, the necessary amount being appropriated to provide for a number of additional instructors and division workers in higher classes. Among these some of the most important appointments are those of W. G. Taylor of the University of Chicago as instructor in political science and A. M. Wilson, late president of the Grand Island college, as assistant instructor of Latin, and T. N. Burnett of Cotner as instructor in German.

Among the old faculty a few minor changes were made. In recognition of the faithful services in the past year, Miss Mary Tremain's salary was advanced to $1,000 and full work assigned her. Prof. Hussey was transferred to the instructorship lately filled by Mr. Frazier. To the department of chemistry addi-
