

F. J. H. Larson visited the Uni and shook hands with everybody, last week. He is studying law with his uncle in Chicago.

T. E. Wing of '93 is at present under arrest in the Black Hills. He probably told some realist that "this is a world of ideals."

The Unions have posted a notice of their oratorical contest which takes place in December. The prizes are fifteen and ten dollars.

About twenty volumes on the period of '60-'65 have just been received at the library. They are a welcome addition for American history students.

Phi Delta Theta initiated three men on Friday the 13th. They were W. H. Hayward of Nebraska City, and Ralph and Corwin Haggard of this city.

"What is the difference between 'Public Opinion' and 'The Opinion of the Public?'" was a question largely discussed in Professor Fossler's classes last week.

The old cadets will be drilled in sabre and artillery practice for a few weeks until the "awkward" squad have learned the difference between right hand salute and order arms.

The board of editors of the "Annual" has met and got down to work. It is intended to bring out the "Annual" on the first of May. Every student should subscribe for at least one copy.

Miss Blair, the new instructor in vocal music, will train the Glee club. She is one of the most popular of our new instructors and materially strengthens the musical department.

Kappa Kappa Gamma initiated two more new members and completed the initiation of their first two on Saturday the 14th. Miss Dora Harley and Miss Ena Ricketts are the latest additions.

A. I. Weaver manager of the foot ball team, has gone to his home accompanied by an incipient attack of typhoid fever. Wm. Johnston, ex-manager, will perform his duties until his return.

The University has turned out some of the leading politicians of the state. The latest addition to the ranks is the genial Lee Edwards who is democratic candidate for co-ner. We promise Lee all our business if he's elected.

A ladies' mandolin club has been organized. Miss Lucy Griffith and Miss Jessie Leland, first mandolins; Miss Stella Curtice and Miss Josephine Lottridge, second mandolins; Miss Helen Hoover and Miss May Moore, guitars.

The foot ball field seemed to have lost something for a few days. Macfarland went to Chicago. For six years he has got out and practiced and it seems strange to see the two elevens line up without him. His example is commended to some of our dilatory athletes.

Of the papers read in the organic branch of the chemical congress at Chicago, but four were written by Americans. It is interesting and pleasing to note that two of those were by Dr. Frankforter of this University. That an alumnus and professor of this college should do as much as all the rest of the country, which was considered worthy of recognition by the congress, is indeed a source of congratulation. Dr. Frankforter is one of the rising chemists of the day. We prophesy that he will rank with Prof. Howard and Prof. Warner as one of our most celebrated alumni.

The long looked for appointments in the military department were made last Monday. The commissioned officers were as follows: Company A—Captain, F. F. Tucker; First Lieut., R. A. Bently; 2d. Lieut., J. T. Babcock. Company B—Captain, John Dixon; 1st. Lieut., R. E. Johnston; 2d. Lieut., H. Ricketts. Company C—Captain, E. Gerrard; 1st. Lieut., A. J. Sawyer; 2d. Lieut., Covell. Company D—Captain, Fred Clements; 1st. Lieut., W. T. Westermann; 2d. Lieut., A. F. Montmorency. First sergeants: A—Otis Weeks. B—C. A. Elliott. C—Foss Durell. D—L. Cheney. Of course there was some disappointment. All the Lieutenant's West Point mathematics could not enable him to make the four captaincies go round the seven or eight men who aspired to them.
