L. P. "Mr. S." "Get along with as little space as you can do without."

Montmorency is drawing eighty plunks per month "doing something" in Anaconda, Montana.

Students who patronize Paine, Warfel & Bumstead will never regret it.

Mead's news stand is the students' headquarters for news, cigars, etc.

F. H. Bradt made a business trip to the Big Horn mountains the first of the week.

Miller & Paine have now settled in their new store where they are now prepared for business.

Mr. C. E. Tefft went home last Monday to see that the votes were cast the right way in his county.

We give a free ticket to the Wilbur Opera Co. with every purchase. A. Kroner, 939 O street.

Miss Nina Weller, of Syracuse, a former student, was visiting old friends at the university yesterday.

Several of the young ladies attended the Y. W. C. A. convention at Hastings, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.

E. Haughton (outside the library window)—"Come, give me your hand, Maudie!" (audible titter in library.)

Miss Robbins, the new cataloguer, arrived Thursday, and is now busily engaged with her work in the library.

Go to Mrs. Gosper's, 1114 O st. to look at millinery and at the same time have your hair dressed in latest style.

Some new dissecting stands, made according to Dr. Ward's model, have been received by the zoological department.

Owing to the large number of law students who went home to vote, the law school was closed from Saturday until Wednesday.

Misses Ferguson and Evans of St. Louis, have opened a dancing school in the Lansing dancing hall for ladies, gentlemen, misses and masters.

Every member of journalism class: "The football team returned from Kansas City yesterday where they played with Missouri Saturday."

Prof. W.—"Now the first hen evidently came from an egg; but where did the first egg come from?"

Gene Brown—"From the hen, of course."

Professor Barnett, of the German department, has just received a quantity of New Testaments in the German language to be used by his class.

It's strange that so many minors suddenly become voters when the passes are issued just before election. Well boys, its a cheap way to see the folks.

Dille, a former law student of the U. of N., exercised his lung capacity Tuesday evening, reading the returns to a republican crowd in the Lincoln hotel.

For Sale.—A set of encyclopedia Britannica, Ninth Edition, with American revisions and additions, at a greatly reduced price, for cash or on time. Address F. T. Riley care of Nebraskan.

His overcoat—he bought it at and it was right.

Judging from the number of sweaters worn by the boys, we must have a large number of athletes in the university, at least "would be" athletes.

Several of the foot ball boys stopped off at their respective homes to vote on their way back from Kansas City. Among them were Sweeny, Hemminger, and Shue.

Many of the forge workers are troubled with a sort of snow blindness from the white hot iron. They can't see anything but stars and eclipses for half an hour after working.

All literary societies have announced that there will be no program this evening on account of the local debates held that night to decide upon who shall enter the Kansas-Nebraska Debate.

Several of the university boys secured places on the election boards of the various wards. Hoagland, Powers, and Flippin told the uninitiated how to make a saw buck after the names of the right man.

The band is contemplating giving a concert in the near future. Those concerts which have been given in the past were meritorious and very enjoyable. The annual band concert should be made a permanent thing.

About one hundred university boys went home to vote. How they got there is not known, but it is rumored they did not pay their fare. The following were among the number: Lenhoff, Gibbs, Craig, Crowell.

The aquarium has been fitted up with a live room, and five tanks for keeping mud-turtles, mussels, cray-fish, and frogs alive through the winter. This will provide the class with live material for dissection which is a great advantage.

Prof. H. (to Haggard at the board) "Now Mr. Haggard what does Sin A divided by Cos A equal?"

Haggard—"mumumumum." Prof. H.—"Yes that's right, Tan A" and Haggard writes it down.

The Democratic-Republican-Populist debate at the U. B. D. C., last Saturday evening, was one of the most interesting of the season. Fiery speeches were made by the champions of the different parties, consuming so much time that there was no open debate.

The English Club at the university met Tuesday morning and elected officers:—Mr. Oberlies, president, and Miss Edwards, secretary. The club will meet every Saturday evening. Its purpose is to encourage literary work among its members.

Professor Peyton, for fourteen years principal of the Syracuse High School, but now of the firm of Allyn & Bacon, of Boston, spent Tuesday with the Chancellor. He is one of the best known educators in that part of the country, and has traveled extensively. He expressed the greatest surprise and gratification at the extent and general work of the U. of N. He also admired the laboratories, the clean buildings and the general appearance and management of our institution.

The courts of the lawn tennis association have been greatly improved. The little stones and brick-bats have been cleared off and the ground leveled. Instead of the old tapes which were constantly bothering the players, the lime mark is used. New nets have been secured so that one may now play tennis and enjoy the game. All who desire, may join the association by paying the initiation fee of fifty cents and the assessment of one dollar.

The various literary societies of the U. of N. have increased somewhat since the opening of the college. The following have joined the Delian society this year: Misses West, Langer, Messrs. Erwin, Deaton, Storch, Tompson, Sayer. The names of those who have joined the Union society this year are: Nellie Watson, Frank Beach, L. Keene Abbott, Nettie Henderson, Ed. Searson, Emily Whitham, Carrie Melick.

John Oury, of Chicago, is visiting his brother Harrison Oury. His health has been somewhat broken down by hard study, in one of Chicago's high schools, and he was persuaded to take a rest, only by his brother going to Chicago after him and bringing him back. He is a football enthusiast and went down to Kansas City to witness the game there last Saturday. He will remain in Lincoln a month or so.

A specialty is made in the library of state school reports. A short time ago the librarian sent a circular letter to all superintendents of public instruction in the state, asking for as complete a file of school reports as possible. These are arriving every day. They vary greatly in character, from one or two small pamphlets to large packages of well bound books.

James M. Sinclair, agricultural commissioner of the Victorian government, from Melbourne, is visiting the sugar-beet factories in this country. He intended coming to Nebraska, but on finding that he will not have time, he has sent for "Experiments in the Culture of Sugar Beets in Nebraska," and also for several bulletins on the sugar-beet industry.

Word comes from Stanford University that Professor Waver has left for Arizona for his health. For some time he has been consumptive, looking badly, and had to provide substitutes for his classes, though he only had three. It is not known how long he intends to stay away. The other U. of N. profs at this institution are reported all right.

Y. W. C. A. Convention.

The annual convention of the Y. W. C. A. met at Hastings, November 2-4. The meetings were attended by many and were very interesting and profitable to all who participated in them. The delegates from the University of Nebraska were the Misses Aruman, L. Burrows, Atkinson, Eckles, McCrosky, M. Chapple, Pillsbury, and Boose. Chancellor McDowell, of Denver, delivered the opening address in his usual interesting and forcible manner. A prominent part was taken in the meetings by the state secretaries of Kansas and Missouri, and by the general secretaries of Topeka and Lincoln. Miss Boose delivered the response to the address of welcome. The young ladies present report a very pleasant time and were greatly aided in their work by the convention.
