TO BE AT LAWRENCE

number of debaters. So many persons wish to enter the contest that it necessitates a long series of debates, for all must be accommodated.

This causes another difficulty in securing competent judges who will be willing to attend five or six debates.

There is a great difficulty to be encountered in the choice of questions and of sides. Some men will appear at very great advantage in discussing certain questions, and in talking on the side they firmly believe in. Then, nearly every one prefers to be followed by a weak speaker, that he may appear to better advantage by the contrast.

The method of securing the judges is not satisfactory because it gives a certain advantage to those who speak in the first debate of the series. By that time the judges are known to all.

These are a few of the defects of the present system of choosing debaters, and it is to be hoped that the evil may be remedied by next year.

Quite a rumour has been raised among the debaters because of the disappearance of certain books from the library containing important articles bearing on the question. One of the debaters has been suspended by the chancellor from library privileges, pending an investigation by the faculty. It appears that he took a volume of the Forum, not because he wanted it himself but to keep information from the hands of the other side.

THE ARTISTS' RECITAL.

It is Much Enjoyed by a Well Filled House.

The first one of the new series of Artists' Recital was held in the chapel of the university, last Tuesday evening. The recital was given by Mr. Martinus Seiveling, of the conservatory. The chapel was well filled by an audience of music lovers and critics who bestowed generous applause upon the rendition of each number. Nestly everyone in the university is conversant with Mr. Seiveling's ability, and Tuesday evening he was at his best. Following is the program rendered.

SONATA Op. 27, No. 2
Ludwig van Beethoven.
Adagio sostenuto, Allegretto, Presto Agitato,
Op. 10, No. 12,
Two Studies,
Op. 10, No. 3,
Frederic Chopin.
Fantasia in F Minor, Frederic Chopin.
SONATA Op. 10, Piano and Violin,
Ed. Grieg.
Allegro molto ed appassionato, Al-legretto espressivo and Romanza, Allegro animato.
SECOND TONOSMERE.....Franz Liszt.

He was encored on every number but only responded to the second. Professor Hagenow accompanied him in executing the fourth number.

Beatrice vs. Ashland.

There was a warm meeting of the Nebraska interscholastic foot ball league, held in the Lincoln High school building this forenoon. There was a game to be played in Lincoln today, but up to half past twelve o'clock, it was not known who were going to be the participants. The trouble arose over the Ashland-Omaha game which was not played. Each team had won its two scheduled games, and it had to be decided who was champion of the northern circuit before the game could be called with Beatrice.

Omaha did not have a representative present at the meeting. The decision arrived at, was that Ashland should play the championship game with Beatrice. The Ashland team was telegraphed to come and the game was played at the M street park this afternoon.

Score: Beatrice 18, Ashland 10.

Battalion News.

Lieutenant Pershing is corresponding with lithographing firms in the east for the purpose of securing portraits of the leading generals of the army: Sheridan, Grant, Sherman, McClellan, Mc-Ferson, Mead, and others. These will be placed in the armory and undoubtedly be very appropriate.

A formal request has been sent by the Chancellor to the chief of ordnance for the purpose of obtaining 125 new rifles, fifty saddles and bridles, and four breech loading cannons. The bond for them will be here by the time the regent's meet.

All the uniforms have been received. They are neater fitting, and better than any others before obtained. The braid has come and the old men can have their uniforms made as good as new by a liberal application of said braid.

The cavalry troop is certainly a go. There are twenty-five men who met for drill last Saturday.

There are electrical clubs, and camera clubs, and medical clubs, and English clubs, and now there is some talk of having a military club. It would meet say once a week. The object would be the discussion of military affairs, campaigns, prominent military feats; papers could be read on the engineering, different battles, secret service, commissary department, etc., in the civil war. It would not be a class, but a meeting where the men would feel at home to express their opinions, and to discuss the different topics. Difficult questions in tactics arising from the drill ground could be settled there, and it would promote a social feeling in the battalion. It would be open to all cadets who desire to join.

Jack Best will begin his boxing lessons next Monday. His charges are $1.00 per month.

A Sad Loss.

Miss Katie Robbins, the sister of L. H. Robbins, died last Sunday of typhoid fever after a continued illness. She was a member of the junior class of the high school.
The funeral was held Tuesday from the residence of Justice McAndless, at which a large number of university students were present.

Now Wear 'Em.

New cadets are very noticeable in the halls by their new uniforms.
They have been expecting these clothes for some time, and now since they have arrived, each individual recruit considers it his express duty to let every one who is uninterested in him know that he is a soldier. But much more conspicuous than the uniform itself is the want of part of this uniform.
For instance, a cap, trousers, and coat, the latter being open and disclosing a black or summer vest, does not look military. Much less military does a cap, blouse and civilian trousers appear; but worst of all, and that which reflects greatest disaste upon the wearer, is a cadet cap worn with civilian clothes. Upon the less soldierly cadet this defect in dress does not have much effect, but to the more cautified and especially to the visitors, this defect seems exceedingly distasteful. If you are going to wear your uniform, wear it, and wear it to its fullest extent. Indeed, nothing could give this institution the appearance of a university better than cadet uniforms.

Up to His Old Tricks.

There was a young prof named Frank-forter,
Who never would do what he order;
He gave us a quiz,
And then on his phiz Wore a smile for an hour and a quarter.
—Minnesota Ariel.

It required four years of my early youth
To master my A, B, C, But now it is worse, for to tell you the truth,
It requires four years for A, B.—Ex.

Her smile was most bewitching, as beside him down she sat, And she made a great impression, but she made it on his hat.

The Junior wrote home to his father:
"Dear Dad—
It costs a good deal to live here; Please send some more money." He soon got a check,
